Udall For Bigger Pt. Reyes Park

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Interior Stewart Udall told senators today it would be a mistake to reduce the size of the proposed Point Reyes Seashore Park in Marin County to 20,000 acres.

Udall, Sens. Thomas H Kuchel (R-Calif.) and Clair Engle (D-Calif.) and Rep. Clement W. Miller, (D-Corte Madera) urged early congressional action to authorize federal acquisition of 53,000 acres, virtually the entire Point Reyes Peninsula.

They agreed also it would be desirable to authorize the secretary of interior to contract for the land acquisition in advance of congressional appropriations to stave off subdivision development.

The Senate Public Lands Subcommittee heard Bryan McCarthy, San Rafael attorney, plead for exemption of existing dairy ranches from the proposed park. He contended the park isn't needed in view of numerous California state beaches, but said that in any event 20,000 acres in the largely non-dairy area should be sufficient.

Sen. Oren E. Long (D-Hawaii) asked Udall's comment on the 20,000-acre proposal supported by the Marin County Board of Supervisors.

"Extremely shortsighted," Udall replied.

He said the supervisors and others were under-estimating the population growth of their area and the need for recreational facilities in the future, as well as what "building up this resource will do for the economy of the area."

Udall said the park service would consider acquisition of scenic easements and giving a form of life tenure to some of the present owners of property in the ranching area.

Several senators expressed approval of the park legislation after Udall testified.

Long said "It would be tragic in this area, and in others, if we don't get the land now."

Sen. Ernest L. Gruening (D-Alaska) declared it is "imperative we move on this now."

U.S. Report Claims Pt. Reyes Park Would Bring In Business

Development of a 53,000-acre national seashore on the Point Reyes Peninsula would enhance the desirability of Marin County for many new business firms, an economic feasibility study of the National Park Service reported today.

The report had been long awaited by the Marin County Board of Supervisors, causing it to postpone action on the national seashore proposal for several months. Last Monday, the report still having failed to appear, the supervisors voted 4-1 to approve a park of not more than 20,000 acres, leaving out West Marin dairy ranches. The report was presented at a House of Representatives hearing last Friday, and copies reached Marin late yesterday.

BACKED BY BUSINESS

Many firms rank recreation opportunities highly in locating their plants, the report notes. Often, rather than expanding engineering and research facilities or by offering higher wages, such firms prefer to find locations with greater living and working advantages which attract and hold more highly qualified professional personnel, says the National Park Service.

Local residents, "who have found almost perfect tranquility" in living on the peninsula, would benefit in some ways if the area were given national seashore status, the report states.

Residents would have the opportunity to use the national seashore facilities far more intensively than could any other part of the metropolitan area or the nation.

ECONOMIC RETURNS

Immediate neighbors of the national seashore would "benefit greatly" by the increased demand for commercial facilities to accommodate visitors to the area, the study says.

Potential economic returns are "exceptionally high" when a major natural recreation resource like the proposed seashore development is also within easy reach of a large population center and major tourist center, the report points out.

It says that many tourists who would visit Point Reyes would also plan tours of many of the state's scenic and recreational attractions. They would also be able to enjoy the advantages of nearby San Francisco.

A "very real benefit" of establishing the national seashore would be to preserve the "amenities of open space" within the metropolitan area in the face of strong development pressures, says the study.

The economic feasibility study was prepared by the National Park Service in collaboration with Professors John W. Dyckman and Julius Margolis of the University of California at Berkeley. Marin County assessor Bert W. Broemmel and Kenneth Davis, executive vice president of the Point Reyes National Seashore Foundation, also contributed to the survey.

Would Speed Polaris, Minuteman Programs

WASHINGTON (AP) — President John F. Kennedy asked Congress today for a boost of nearly two billion dollars in the nation's defense program primarily to speed up Polaris missile submarine and Minuteman missile projects.

Kennedy said he asked this step up in the defense budget he inherited from the Eisenhower administration because the United States must continue to have "the ability to survive a first blow and respond with devastating power."

The president said his requests stemmed from the reappraisal of U. S. defense he requested Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara to make last January.

while the review is many months short of completion, Kennedy said, "circumstances do not permit a postponement of all further action."

There was only the briefest mention in Kennedy's message to comparable U. S.-Soviet missile strength and whether the Soviet Union enjoys a so-called "missile gap" advantage over this country.

'HAS NOT LED'

"It has been publicly acknowledged for several years," Kennedy said, "that this nation has not led the world in missile strength."

The shifts in the Pentagon budget recommended by Kennedy would produce these net changes in financing:

The total of new obligational authority authorizing the services to order equipment to be paid in the next and subsequent years would go up 1.954 billion dollars—from the 41.840 billion proposed in the Eisenhower budget to 43,794 billion.

ACTUAL SPENDING

Spending—or actual money to pay defense bills—would go up about 890 million dollars from the Eisenhower budget, to a new total of 43.8 billion.

The revised military totals bring the over-all fiscal 1962 budget to a record peacetime level of $84,259,000,000.

The prospective deficit thus is increased to $2,826,000,000.

Neither of those figures is in Kennedy's message. They were obtained from the Budget Bureau which said it now is revising its figures to take the new Pentagon estimates into account.

The spending total compares with President Eisenhower's recommendations for $80,865,000,000, a sum which Kennedy has said underestimated the actual rate of military outlays.

Marin Man, 71, Badly Burned As Bed Ignites

An elderly Terra Linda man was badly burned today when his bed and trousers caught on fire.

Charles A. Smith, 71, who lives with his son-in-law, John E. Duckett of 386 Orange Blossom Lane, Terra Linda, was sitting on the side of the bed listening to his radio.

Duckett, his wife and son, Darryl, 7, were in the kitchen when they heard a commotion and smelled smoke. Duckett ran to the front bedroom.

TROUSERS ON FIRE

Smith, who needs a cane to get around, was standing up, his trousers on fire, trying to find his way out of the smoky room, Duckett said.

Duckett said he tried to beat the fire out, then rushed outside, broke the window and turned the garden hose on the burning man.

Smith was taken to San Rafael General Hospital with second and third degree burns on his right heel, leg, hip and hand. He was reported in satisfactory condition.

$100 DAMAGE

The Terra Linda Fire Department, which answered Mrs. Duckett's call, estimated the damage at $100. The fire was confined to the bed and Smith's trousers, with smoke damage to walls.

This is Smith's second close call with fire, according to Duckett. In August, 1958, Duckett pulled Smith from his burning car in front of their house.

Duckett said his father-in-law uses wooden matches to light his home-rolled cigarettes. He said he thought possibly Smith had dropped a match that was not entirely out.

VOTE TURNOUT CALLED GOOD IN BELVEDERE

Two hundred and ninety-five residents out of 1,200 registered Belvedere voters had gone to the polls by noon to vote on whether the city should continue its condemnation suit against the Belvedere Land Co. for 477 feet of beach road property on the cove.

"So far this is a good turnout for a special election," City Manager Britton Rey said.

There were 151 persons who voted out of 523 registered voters at the firehouse polling place and 144 out of 706 registered voters at the community hall. The polls will close at 7 p.m.

Roads Budget Of $2.5 Million Goes To Board

Public Works Director Marvin W. Brigham obeyed orders of the supervisors' finance committee by submitting to the board yesterday a tentative county road budget totaling $2,500,000 for the 1961-62 fiscal year.

This was a million dollars over current estimated receipts from such sources as motor vehicle gasoline tax, sales tax and motor vehicle fines. It compares with a last year's budget of $1,362,000, of which $1,200,000 was used.

UP TO BOARD

"You asked about a million-dollar increase and now it's for the board to decide whether to go for it," said Brigham, commenting that presumably the extra money would come from property taxes.

"It would mean about 50 cents on the tax," spoke up Assistant Auditor-Controller Michael Mitchell.

"The people are interested in roads," said Chairman William D. Fusselman who, as chairman of the public works committee, on March 17 instructed Brigham to get up a preliminary budget of two and one-half million dollars subject to paring.

"The only thing that interests people more than roads," said Supervisor George Ludy, "is taxes."

NEEDS BUDGET SOON

Brigham said he thought the board should make up its mind fast for "the auditor needs the budget very soon."

Nobody seemed in any frame of mind to move fast on putting an extra 50 cents on the tax rate, and Fusselman said there was no big rush, since this was preliminary and could be printed up relatively late in the schedule anyway.

Mitchell said his 50-cent estimate was based on consideration of all possible factors including progress of the reassessment program.

Brigham's general division gave $415,000 for overhead, $100,000 for acquisitions, $200,000 for contributions to cities on a matching basis, $401,000 for maintenance and $1,384,000 for construction to total $2,500,000.

THERE'S STILL HOPE

U.S. Optimistic But Cautious Over Laos

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

The Western world remained hopeful for a peaceful solution to the crisis in Laos today, although differences were reported on how to put allied pressure on the Communists.

U.S. officials in Washington expressed cautious optimism that the Soviet Union would accept a cease-fire in Laos and settle the crisis there by negotiation.

And in Bangkok, Thailand, Secretary of State Dean Rusk predicted that the eight Southeast Asia Treaty Organization member states would reach an "acceptable agreement" on curbing Communist aggression in Laos despite reports of a split in SEATO ranks. (See story on page 3.)

Such an agreement must be endorsed unanimously before the SEATO council meeting ends tomorrow. But right now, its members are split.

Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev has delayed in responding to a British note asking a cease-fire, reactivation of the international control commission for Laos and a later multi-nation conference to work out a neutral status for Laos.

It was announced that Secretary of State Rusk would leave Bangkok Thursday morning and fly to New Delhi to confer with Indian Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru.

Powerful U.S. naval forces, including an aircraft carrier, were in the Gulf of Siam and the South China Sea in a position to put forces ashore in the event of a showdown.

Heavy rains two weeks ahead of the regular monsoon season had bogged down the Laotian fighting. Road travel virtually was impossible and heavy mists obscuring the mountain tops grounded air transports.

Government forces were reported inching northward on the Vientiane-Luang Prabang highway about 65 miles north of Vientiane, the Laotian administrative capital.

Brown Broaches State Bonds For Aid In Transit Problems

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Possibility of a half-billion-dollar revolving fund, provided by state bonds, to assist metropolitan areas with their transportation problems was discussed by Gov. Edmund G. Brown today.

Brown told his press conference that he had discussed with John Peirce, general manager of the Bay Area Rapid Transit District, the possibility of putting such a proposal before the legislature this year "for their consideration."

The fund would be available on a matching basis for any district of the state having transit problems. It would be repaid to the state from revenues from the district's transit system.

Brown said he "did not accept" the idea but that he has it under consideration. "We must have rapid transit in the next ten years," he declared, "both here and in Southern California. We can't build freeways fast enough."

He was not clear on just what type of bonds this issue would be. First he said they would be general obligation bonds, backed up by the credit of the whole state, but to be paid off by revenues of the rapid transit system.

Then he spoke of them as revenue bonds and at another time as bonds backed by both the state's credit and a lien on

Former Marin Barber Gets Life In Slaying

Elwood J. Williams, 29, former San Rafael barber who shot his estranged wife to death at a home in Davis last November, drew life imprisonment today in Yolo County Superior Court.

The same jury that convicted Williams of first degree murder 10 days ago deliberated for 20 minutes this morning to save the barber from the gas chamber. The jurors voted unanimously for life imprisonment instead.

Judge C. C. McDonald, who presided over the trial in Woodland, ordered Williams transferred from the county jail to the California Medical Facility, Vacaville.

Williams, who worked at a Fourth Street barber shop in San Rafael, separated last November from his wife Holly Germaine Williams, 27, when she sued for divorce. He moved to Kentfield, and she went to Davis to live with her sister, Mrs. Jonellen Goddard.

On Nov. 10, Williams went to the Goddard home and shot five bullets into his wife, then shot himself with the same weapon, a .22-caliber revolver. She died instantly, and he hovered between life and death for several weeks before recovering.

The fund would be available on a matching basis for any district of the state having transit problems. It would be repaid to the state from revenues from the district's transit system.

Brown said he "did not accept" the idea but that he has it under consideration. "We must have rapid transit in the next ten years," he declared, "both here and in Southern California. We can't build freeways fast enough."

He was not clear on just what type of bonds this issue would be. First he said they would be general obligation bonds, backed up by the credit of the whole state, but to be paid off by revenues of the rapid transit system.

Then he spoke of them as revenue bonds and at another time as bonds backed by both the state's credit and a lien on

Legislature Vows 2-Year Inquiry Into Textbooks

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—A full two-year investigation of the entire field of textbooks and supplies purchased for California public schools was promised today by the legislature.

Assemblyman Jesse M. Unruh (D-Los Angeles), chairman of the Assembly Ways and Means Committee, announced plans for a full-scale study to commence after the legislature adjourns in mid-June.

A select 10-man subcommittee completed its investigation last night into why the department of education burned 185,000 new but obsolete books and why it permitted textbook publishers to charge local districts $350,000 more a year than they should have.

"But that only scratched the surface, "Unruh said. "The testimony we have heard produced enough evidence of gross negligence to warrant an intensive and extensive investigation of the entire field of state purchasing in the field of education. We hope to make such a study and come back in the 1963 session with some firm recommendations."

The windup of the subcommittee hearings produced these developments:

Unruh accused state printer Paul E. Gallagher of perjury during a heated exchange over whether Gallagher knew of the existence of a lobbying organization among employees of the printing plant. "If I get one more evasive answer out of you tonight I'm going to put you under oath and see if you can get your way out of some of the perjury you have committed," the assemblyman threatened. Gallagher denied he had lied.

Asked to explain how a spelling textbook could become obsolete, Mrs. Gertrude R. Goodrich, principal of an elementary school in Sacramento and member of the state curriculum commission gave this example: "Many words are completely obsolete. As a sixth grade teacher I tried to teach my students the word 'chore'—but it is completely obsolete. The children neither know the meaning of the word nor have any use for it."

Legislative analyst A. Alan Post told the legislators that the main reason some 900,000 books currently are stored in state warehouses and will be obsolete soon is because there is "layer after layer of insulation" in the many state agencies involved in textbook selection, adoption, printing and distribution.

Dr. Ivan Waterman, chief of the bureau of textbooks for the Department of Education, was another target of intense questioning by the legislators.

Last week Waterman testified an eastern publishing firm refused to waive contract requirements and permit surplus state textbooks to be distributed to underdeveloped foreign nations.

Assemblyman Glenn E. Coolidge (R-Felton) by telephone negotiated such a waiver with the same company. At last night's hearing, Coolidge said he "doubted very much" that Waterman ever asked the publishing house for permission to ship surplus books overseas.

Unruh summed up the weeks of subcommittee hearings by saying:

"I'd hate to give anybody a completely clean bill of health that appeared before this committee. While the over-all problem is one that will require lengthy investigation, we intend to offer legisltaion at this session to take care of the obvious things immediately and get this off of dead center."

MOSCOW (UPI)—Military and political leaders of the Communist world met within the walls of the Kremlin today to discuss "measures to strengthen (Red) combat capacity" and enforce demands for "restoration of the neutrality of Laos."

The conference, including delegates from the Warsaw Pact nations (Russian and its European satellites) and observers fom Red Asia, is expected to last a week. The meetings are secret.

New Strike Threat

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Representatives of airline flight engineers, threatening to resume their paralyzing wildcat strike, planned to meet today with Labor Secretary Arthur J. Goldberg over their claims that a presidential order is being violated.

The engineers, whose walkout last February caused the worst tieup in U. S. aviation history, claimed neither the airlines nor the government is living up to the terms of a presidential order that ended the five-day strike.

To Draft Physicians

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Defense Department yesterday ordered 250 physicians drafted into the Air Force, the first medical draft in four years.

It said the draft was necessary because of the "failure of the year's intern group to volunteer for active duty beginning in July, 1961, in sufficient requirements of the military medical service."

All 250 of the draftees will go into the Air Force.

Behan Faces Arrest

TORONTO (UPI)—An arrest warrant was out today for Irish playwright Brendan Behan, but his attorney said he was "quite ill" in a hospital.

Behan, who fell off the wagon in his Toronto hotel last week, failed to appear in court yesterday on charges of assaulting a city policeman and the hotel detective.

Magistrate Donald Graham revoked his $500 bail and issued the bench warrant for his arrest.

Throws Kids 4 Floors

GLASGOW, Scotland (AP)—Spinster Jean Barclay Waddell, 37, was accused today of throwing five small children out of her fourth-floor apartment window in Glasgow's Gorbals slum district.

One child, Marjory Hughes, 4, was killed by the 60-foot fall yesterday. The other four—3 to 7 years old—were seriously injured.

Assassination Try

ADEN (UPI)—Police today questioned scores of suspects about the attempted assassination of the Iman of Yemen, who narrowly escaped death when gunmen opened fire on the ruler's automobile.

The Iman was returning to his palace yesterday after visiting a hospital at the Red Sea port of Hodeidah when he was attacked. Radio Sana reported that several of the Iman's companions were wounded, but they were not identified.

Just Like 1945

TOKYO (UPI)—The Japanese Defense Ministry announced today that Japanese and American Air Force planes will take part in their first joint air maneuvers in May and June.

The American planes will play the role of aggressors and the Japanese of defenders, officials said.

Classes Boycotted

BOWLING GREEN, Ohio (UPI)—Students at Bowling Green State University boycotted classes today after two consecutive nights of rioting on campus and in the downtown area.

This was the first day of the class boycott decided upon last night after a series of boisterous demonstrations.

Student spokesmen said they are seeking reforms and clarification in the administration's policies on women's dormitory hours, censorship of campus publications and other grievances.

Appeal To Chivalry

NEW WORK (AP)—The City Transit Authority reached back to the Middle Ages yesterday for an idea to improve a 20th century institution—the subways.

The authority began erecting posters asking male riders to display a little chivalry and give their seats to women.

"Be a knight for a day," the posters say to the users of a transportation system acknowledged to have a high shove and push content.

11 Lost In Fire

CLARKSVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Officials believe Mr. and Mrs. Alex Whitehead and their nine children perished in an early morning fire which destroyed their frame home in the nearby Dotsonville community of upper middle Tennessee.

Embers from the burning debris prevented firemen from searching the ruins immediately but Montgomery County Sheriff Kenneth Albright said the entire family is missing.

Narcotics 'Search' Measure Rejected

SACRAMENTO (AP)—The Senate Judiciary Committee voted 7-5 early today against a bill to upset the State Supreme Court's Cahan decision in narcotics cases.

The committee action, taken after midnight following an eight-hour hearing, apparently ended the bill's chances this session.

An identical measure was turned down previously by the Assembly Criminal Procedure Committee. Gov. Edmund G. Brown said he would veto any such measure.

The Senate bill, by the committee chairman, Sen. Edwin J. Regan (D-Weaverville), would have allowed courts to consider narcotics evidence obtained by "unreasonable search and seizure."

Such evidence was admitted by California courts for 103 years until the Supreme Court by a 4-3 majority in the 1955 Cahan case ruled that hence-forth any illegally obtained evidence could not be considered.

The majority held that the citizen's protection against unreasonable search and seizure, guaranteed by the federal and state constitutions, has not been insured by his right to sue the police.

The majority said that prohibiting the use of such evidence appeared to be the best way to deter police from violating citizens' rights.

The minority contended that no workable rules to determine which searches are unreasonable could be arrived at and that the rule only served to shield the guilty.

Arguments before the Senate Committee followed the split on the court.

The committee did not act on two other Regan bills to allow certain secret informers in narcotic cases and to require registration of and provide treatment for narcotic offenders.

McGee Again Warns Prisons Overcrowded

SACRAMENTO (AP)—California's prison chief has called for immediate action to reduce dangerous overcrowding — "a serious threat to the state's prison program."

By Friday the prisons will be holding almost 6,000 more inmates than they are designed to house, Richard McGee, state director of corrections told the Governor's Council yesterday.

"I must repeat, it is my duty to repeat, my earlier warnings that this dangerous situation should not be allowed to continue," he said.

The total prison population has hit a record 22,935, with men sleeping in corridors, dayrooms, stairwells, libraries and field houses, and almost 9,000 of them doubled up in cells, McGee reported.

Additionally, thousands of prisoners have been left without in-prison work assignments. Warned McGee, quoting a New York expert on prison riots:

"Idle, caged men are dynamite. They breed prison explosions."

Even buildings now under construction or planned will not overcome the growing problem, he said, and by June, 1963, there will still be almost 4,500 too many inmates.

McGee urged steps to secure and immediately activate a surplus Navy hospital at Norco in Riverside County, expansion of plans to build for a 600-man capacity two planned 160-men conservation center branches, and plans for a new 1,200-man facility at Techachapi State Prison.

Lobbyist Penalty Easing Sought

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Lobbyists would no longer be subject to criminal penalties for violating state laws regulating them under a measure approved yesterday by an Assembly committee.

The bill by Assemblyman Myron Frew (D-Dinuba) would set up a joint legislative committee with broader powers than present Senate and Assembly committees to police lobbyists.

The measure, approved by the Assembly Legislative Representation Committee, would require fewer financial reports from the lobbyists and leave it up to the joint committee what information would be required.

Instead of criminal penalties up to $5,000 fine and one year in jail the new bill would substitute a maximum civil penalty of $1,000.

Marin Nurses Seek Pay Scale

The Marin Nurses Assn., District 28, has announced a starting salary recommendation of $414 per month for registered professional nurses with a year's supervised experience, employed in hospitals, physician's offices and industrial plants.

The recommendation will help assure the public of improved patient care through increased recruitment to the profession and stability of professional nurse employment, the association said.

The standard statewide fee schedule of $20 for private duty nurses remains unchanged this year while the association undertakes a study.

It grows almost like Jack's beanstalk

To him, it's amazing. To teeming millions in crowded areas of the world, it's a new source of hope — of better food, a richer life.

For in food crops, astonishing new growth is being released by the green thumb of science.

One striking development in agriculture, for instance, is plant foods created by the people of Standard's ORTHO Division.

These plant foods come in dry pellet form... and can literally be "rained" on fields by plane. They can increase yields of fruit and vegetables 100%, make pastures rich enough to graze five times more livestock.

Imagine what advances like these can mean to the peoples of other free world nations. Our field men see it...working with farmers and the land in 70 countries. Poor soil becomes fertile; plants become rich in nourishment.

And this has a larger meaning... more food brings more vitality to peoples of crowded lands, a stronger economy... a healthier soil for the growth of freedom.

Carole, Finch Found Guilty; Both Could Get Death Penalty

FACES DEATH—Carole Tregoff, facing a possible death sentence for her conviction for conspiracy to commit murder, returns to jail in Los Angeles after the jury verdict yesterday. She was also convicted of second degree murder in the slaying of the wife of Dr. Bernard Finch. Finch was convicted of first degree murder. (AP Wirephoto)

3rd Jury Agrees; Doctor's Lawyer Says Appeal Due

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The state will ask death in its gas chamber for Dr. R. Bernard Finch and his mistress, Carole Tregoff, convicted of murdering his socialite wife with a bullet in the back.

A third jury, agreeing where two others had deadlocked, returned its verdict late yesterday.

ONCE A MODEL

Carole, 24, once a model who became Finch's receptionist and then his paramour, was found guilty of second-degree murder.

Both were found guilty of conspiracy to commit murder.

Deputy Dist. Atty. Clifford Crail said, "We will ask the death penalty for both defendants."

Finch, hands clasped, took his own verdict cooly. When he heard Carole's his face reddened and tears welled in his eyes. He reached past an attorney and patted her shoulder. She was sobbing.

THEY EMBRACED

As they were led out of the courtroom, the lovers embraced. Then Carole, shaking with sobs, followed a woman sheriff's deputy back to jail a few floors above.

Under California law the same jury of 10 men and two women will now decree the penalty. Superior Court Judge David Coleman told them to return for this purpose next Monday.

First-degree murder is punishable by life imprisonment or death, second-degree by five years to life.

The jury had deliberated a little over 21 hours since last Thursday morning.

59 DAYS IN COURT

The end of the three-month trial came after 59 working days in court.

Co-prosecutor Crail said: "This restores my faith in the jury system. This, the guilty verdict, should have happened in the first trial."

Maxwell S. Keith, young attorney who took over Finch's defense for the third trial, said: "We are definitely going to appeal. I am disappointed and surprised over the verdict."

Carole's attorney, Donald S. Bringgold, refused to comment.

The verdict climaxes a case that attracted worldwide attention since Mrs. Finch was found dead on a next-door lawn.

Prosecutors claimed the then wealthy surgeon and his mistress killed Mrs. Finch so they could marry without a costly divorce settlement. Finch testified the shooting was an accident.

Rusk Predicts Firm SEATO Stand On Laos

Secretary Sees Accord Despite Different Views

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP)— U. S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk declared tonight he is confident "a strong, unanimous" resolution on Laos will be approved by the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization's council of ministers.

France offered objections, showing a reluctance to antagonize the Soviet Union with a hard-hitting SEATO resolution that might mar Laotian peace hopes.

OUT IN THE WASH

Asked to comment on this, Rusk told a reporter: "It will all come out in the wash tomorrow."

Rusk acknowledged that there had been a lively disagreement with the French over the resolution but said it had never reached the stage of an open split.

The divergence of views emerged at the third secret session of the three-day ministers meeting, which closes tomorrow.

Rusk urged the seven other foreign ministers of the SEATO nations at a session this afternoon to make clear to Moscow that the anti-Communist alliance is ready to intervene with arms to prevent Laos falling to pro-Communist rebels bolstered by Soviet-supplied arms.

CLOSED DOORS

With the ministers meeting behind closed doors for the second day, Rusk reportedly told his SEATO colleagues that there has been no information on any Soviet moves to end the hostilities in the strategic kingdom next door to Thailand.

The SEATO Council completed its evaluation of the situation in the area and got down to the urgent business of drafting a resolution telling the world — and the Communists particularly—where they stand.

Rusk emphasized that Soviet peace talk should not influence their course of action in dealing with the crisis and standing firm against a Communist takeover.

SOME CAUTION

One conference source said it would be safe to speculate that the Soviets are trying to disrupt the SEATO meeting with such peace gestures as the article in Pravda yesterday expressing Soviet willingness to negotiate an end to the jungle war in the Southeast Asia kingdom.

Other foreign ministers also took a cautious, wait-and-see attitude toward the Pravda article, which was the first Soviet response to the American-backed British proposal for an immediate cease fire in Laos and then an international conference to place the easy-going Laotians in permanent neutrality. The Pravda article endorsed the international conference but neither approved nor rejected a cease-fire.

REPORT PROBED ON SURVIVOR IN LAOS PLANE

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department today investigated reports one survivor jumped safely from a U.S. plane shot down over rebel territory in Laos and now may be in the hands of pro-Communist guerillas.

State Department press officer Lincoln White said yesterday the unarmed transport crashed and burned Thursday when hit by ground fire over the rebel-held Plaines des Jarres. There were no reports that any of the seven other men aboard the plane survived.

White said unconfirmed reports from Vientiane said Maj. Lawrence R. Bailey of Laurel, Md., parachuted and is "now in the hands of the Pathet Lao," the left-wing guerrillas.

Colorado Jury Given Coors Slaying Case

GOLDEN, Colo. (UPI) — The jury in the murder trial of Joseph Corbett Jr., accused of slaying Adolph Coors III, was to be instructed today to find Corbett guilty or innocent of first-degree murder only.

Dist. Judge Christian D. Stoner agreed with attorneys for both sides shortly before court recessed yesterday that the jury should not consider a lesser charge, such as second-degree murder.

Stoner ordered the jury locked up until today when the prosecution and defense make their closing statements and Stoner will deliver his instructions.

Defense attorneys rested their case yesterday without calling a single witness. "We feel that the state has failed to establish any element upon which to obtain a conviction," defense attorney William Erickson said.

More Collegians Jailed In Lauderdale Rioting

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (UPI) — Police booked a new batch of college boys today while city fathers pondered how to head off more mob revelry by thousands of student vacationists.

An estimated 3,000 to 5,000 beer-drinking, hooting collegians kept the entire Fort Lauderdale police department on the jump last night.

Officers collared more than 100 young people and said they would charge them with disturbing the peace and public intoxication.

No violence or injuries were reported in contrast with Sunday night's riot when beer cans and rocks were hurled at police. But the college boys and some girls swarmed through the beach district tying up traffic and chanting demands for beer, the National Guard and access to Jade Beach.

Jade Beach, unlighted, has been closed at night to the Easter vacationists from colleges mostly in the North and Midwest. City officials threatened earlier to call out the National Guard if Sunday's riot was repeated.

Mayor Edward Johns said after viewing last night's turmoil with police, "I don't want to see another night like this. We will have to take some kind of action."

Fort Lauderdale since the 1930s has been an increasingly popular resort for college students on an Easter break from classes. This year more than 25,000 already have checked in, roaming the beaches and making the rounds of bars and hamburger stands.

To Discuss Recipes

Recipes for lobster steak saute and deviled crab will be discussed by Gordon Jones of Rubini's Restaurant, Fairfax, during a special interview on Owen Spann's KCBS radio program tomorrow at 9:30 a. m. Both Jones and Spann are Marin County residents.

Bigger Marin College District On Agenda

Trustee representatives of the College of Marin will meet with the board of the Novato Unified School District tonight to discuss including the Novato district in the college district.

The unified district, with grades from kindergarten through high school, is at present not in any college district. Tonight's meeting will begin at 8 o'clock at the district office, Seventh and Grant Streets.

Novato district officials also have set April 12 as the date for a meeting with Petaluma area school officials on the possibility of forming a junior college district of parts of Marin and Sonoma Counties. This meeting will begin at 8 p.m. at the Veterans Memorial Building in Petaluma.

Also on the agenda for tonight's meeting is a suggestion for a joint study committee for the Novato and San Jose School Districts on classrooms to be needed in coming years. Some residents in the San Jose district are backing consolidation of the districts.

Trustees also will look over bids for a six-classroom addition to the high school, discuss granting tenure to some 25 teachers and discuss inter-district permits and the possible necessity of having to ask tuition payments of out-of-district high school students because of an interpretation of state law.

Garden Bazaar Set April 7-8 To Earn Novato Tree Funds

The Novato Garden Club will sponsor a garden bazaar April 7-8 at the Nave Shopping Center to earn funds for further tree planting along Novato streets.

The club already has donated planter boxes and trees for Grant Avenue, and is attempting to raise more funds for the project.

The bazaar near Brice Brothers Market will include sale of donated golden bamboo plants, "pork and beans," lilacs, rose bushes, "snow ball," laurel, olive trees, junipers, pyracantha and iris bulbs.

Mrs. Robin Cannon and Mrs. Walter Simonds are co-chairmen of the bazaar.

Other organizations to be represented include the Novato junior women's club, selling balloons, coffee and orange drink; Martha-Mary circle of the Novato Community Methodist Church, infant wear members have made; girl scouts from Hill School, girl scout cookies; Novato Aggies 4-H club, redwood planters they have made; Rainbow Mothers, nut and fruit breads; bleacher fund backers, rummage sale items; Disabled American Veterans Auxiliary, home-made cakes; Explorer Scouts, drift wood, manzanita and lava rock; American Field Service, cookies from recipes from throughout the world.

Planning Matters Before Council

The Novato City Council will have three planning matters included in its agenda when councilmen meet at 8 o'clock tonight at the city hall.

A hearing on the Safeway property master plan for various stores and the food store at Highway 101 and Diablo Avenue, and a hearing on rezoning and density requirements for the R. W. Hanna property near the Highway 101 and Highway 37 intersection.

Councilmen also will consider a suggestion by City Administrator J. Julien Baget to hold council and planning commission meetings at various schools "to bring government to the people."

Novatan Given Six Months For Assault

Joseph A. York 33, of 98 Grand Vista, Novato, yesterday was sentenced to six months in the county jail for assault.

York was found innocent of rape of a 49-year-old secretary, but was convicted of assault against the woman, by a jury on Feb. 24.

Liquor Transfer

The off-sale liquor section of Karl's Klub, 877 Grant Avenue, Novato, has been sold to Maurice A. Guy, operator of the Food Mart in San Rafael. Karl Matheas will continue to operate the bar.

Carole, Finch Found Guilty; Both Could Get Death Penalty

FACES DEATH—Carole Tregoff, facing a possible death sentence for her conviction for conspiracy to commit murder, returns to jail in Los Angeles after the jury verdict yesterday. She was also convicted of second degree murder in the slaying of the wife of Dr. Bernard Finch. Finch was convicted of first degree murder. (AP Wirephoto)

3rd Jury Agrees; Doctor's Lawyer Says Appeal Due

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The state will ask death in its gas chamber for Dr. R. Bernard Finch and his mistress, Carole Tregoff, convicted of murdering his socialite wife with a bullet in the back.

A third jury, agreeing where two others had deadlocked, returned its verdict late yesterday.

ONCE A MODEL

Carole, 24, once a model who became Finch's receptionist and then his paramour, was found guilty of second-degree murder.

Both were found guilty of conspiracy to commit murder.

Deputy Dist. Atty. Clifford Crail said, "We will ask the death penalty for both defendants."

Finch, hands clasped, took his own verdict cooly. When he heard Carole's his face reddened and tears welled in his eyes. He reached past an attorney and patted her shoulder. She was sobbing.

The verdict climaxes a case that attracted worldwide attention since Mrs. Finch was found dead on a next-door lawn.

Expense Trim Detailed For Juvenile Hall

County Probation Officer Walter Busher told the Marin County Board of Supervisors yesterday that he has decided he can cut $620 off his recently estimated requirements for juvenile hall.

He detailed several items which he'd expected to buy but which he now thinks can be obtained at less or no cost, including an adding machine from another department, a record player probably coming as gift from a community organization, and cuts on such items as cabinets and recreation material.

This was supplemented by a new analysis of staff requirements sent by Administrator Alan Bruce, recommending that regular hire positions be kept at the presently authorized 15, but reshuffled to take account of caring for youngsters in expanded space due to new construction.

Additional personnel could be authorized on a flexible extra hire basis for use only as necessary at discretion of the superintendent, depending on population pressures, said Bruce.

But the board found Bruce a bit too optimistic on part of his letter in which he voiced congratulations to Busher and staff, the sheriff's office and the juvenile court judge "on their success in reducing the Juvenile Hall population to the present census figure in the low 20s."

"That population figure seems to have been just a fluke, Bruce interjected. "Now they have about 34 to 36 again."

No action was taken on any of the submissions.

MAN LOCKS SELF UP AT TAVERN —NOW HE'S LOCKED UP AT JAIL

Edward J. Cornwell of 1423 Lincoln Avenue, San Rafael, janitor at the Calvacade Bar at 813 Fourth Street, couldn't clean the bar's back room this morning.

Somebody was inside and refused to open the bar.

Cornwell called San Rafael police.

The man in the back room wouldn't open the door for them, either.

Police called bartender Forrest R. Mitchell of 911½ Lincoln Avenue. He unlocked the door.

Inside, they found Frederick O. Lauderman of no fixed address, who was charged with vagrancy and taken to the Marin County Jail.

At the county jail, police found there was a warrant for Mitchell's arrest for failure to appear on a drunk charge. Judge Leonard Thomas had given him permission to attend a funeral on March 7. He failed to appear when scheduled again on March 10 and a bench warrant was issued for his arrest.

Lauderman has been arrested 49 times since 1959 for being drunk.

Hub Council Will Discuss Plan Member

The San Anselmo City Council will discuss reappointment of Charles R. Leitzell to the city's planning commission at the meeting at 8 p.m. today in the city hall.

Leitzell was appointed to fill out the term of Merritt Webster on Sept. 20, 1959. He was elected vice chairman of the commission last month. The term expires next month.

City Manager Douglas J. Flautt will give a report on cost of maintaining magnolia trees planted in boxes in the business district. The councilmen are, also slated to discuss the cost of new street lights for the downtown area, said city Clerk Anita Gannon.

E. R. Hartneck is scheduled to make an appeal from planning commission denial of a use permit to take boarders at 41 Austin Avenue.

Expenditures at the No. 2 firehouse and cost of a new baseball diamond in the city park are also slated to be discussed.

Elephant Rock Placed Before Supervisors Again

Tiburon's Chamber of Commerce heaved Elephant Rock into the lap of the Marin County Board of Supervisors again yesterday.

Board members groaned and wondered if various recreational problems weren't creating need for some sort of special county recreation district.

Elephant Rock, where voluntary effort of Tiburon residents and chamber recently provided a fishing pier just offshore, has been repeatedly tendered to the county and just as regularly rejected.

The supervisors had suggested that maybe the South Marin Recreation Center could take over maintenance and insurance of the pier. The Tiburon chamber reported yesterday the center is "non-profit in nature and not suitable."

Chairman William D. Fusselman said the chamber's latest idea of asking the county park and recreation commission to make a study was no use, and that budget time was the time to go into such things.

"Weren't they taking subscriptions?" asked Supervisor Walter R. Castro.

"I'm just as confused as you are," Fusselman confessed in the absence of Supervisor J. Walter Blair, one of the pier's sponsors. "Referring to the recreation commission only means we're going to finance a project anyway. But we might form a separate recreation district with its own commission and let them have such matters.

"I am not opposed to taking on various recreational things but we must be realistic and find the money to take care of them."

Next item was a letter from the Paradise Property Owners Assn. about the former Tiburon Naval Net Depot property bought by the county, not yet ready for use, but subject to "misuse by trespassers" who break the fence.

The board sent for public works director Marvin W. Brigham who agreed that the fence has deteriorated and should be replaced. He estimated cost at $6,000 to $7,000. He said the money was available and the board told him to proceed.

Novato Community Club Directors Plan Election

Directors of the Novato Community Club last night nominated 17 persons for club office and agreed to ask club members to approve a loan for repair of the clubhouse.

Election will be April 24.

Under club bylaws, the board of directors may borrow up to $500 without asking membership approval; with approval, directors may borrow up to $5,000. Directors will be asking for this approval at the election meeting of the members.

A request for a change in club bylaws to permit borrowing up to $6,500 for repair and maintenance of the clubhouse at 906 Machin Street was voted down by club members last December, by 22 to 14.

The funds would be used to bring the clubhouse up to fire safety standards, club president George Wahl reported. Wahl was chairman of last night's board meeting, the first time since October, 1960, when he took a leave of absence as president to direct the play, "Mr. Roberts," being produced by the drama section of the club.

The status of the clubhouse and the power of its members to borrow is clouded by a suit by club member Alfred Bowman who is asking the courts to give the clubhouse to the city. The city has been drawn into the action on Bowman's side, through legal maneuvers.

Jack Sorenson, now clubhouse chairman, was nominated last night for president. Sheldon Nickols was nominated for first vice president, Joe Jacob was nominated for third vice president; Mrs. George Barnwell, for fourth vice president. No one was nominated as second vice president.

Robert Thomas was nominated for treasurer; Mrs. Richard Colombo for recording secretary; Mrs. Edward Grundstrom, for corresponding secretary.

Nominated for the board of directors, with eight to be elected, were Richard Casey, Dr. Leo Wagner, Harry Overly, James Helmick, Charles Roberts, Eleanor Lafranchi, Aaron Hiller, Vincent McGovern, Robert Patterson and Mrs. Wayne Tharpe.

Mrs. Tharpe, a member of the garden section of the community club, was added to the nomination list only after Mrs. Robert Merritt, a club director and member of the garden section, requested it, noting that no member of the garden section was on the list of nominees.

"You can call this stacked if you want," Wahle said, and went on to say he wanted no one nominated who favored giving up the clubhouse.

The garden section has been the most vociferous group favoring giving the clubhouse to the city.

Woman Sues Truck Driver

A $25,219 damage suit was filed in Marin Superior Court yesterday by Mrs. Annie B. Watson of 27 Cypress Avenue, San Anselmo, as the result of a traffic accident on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard in San Anselmo on Sept. 20.

Mrs. Watson is asking $774 medical expenses, $2,000 for future medical treatment, $1,685 for loss of wages, $760 for her car and $20,000 general damages.

Young Men Leave, Take Table Too

Three young men walked out with one of the tables at the Country Club Bowl at 88 Vivian Way, San Rafael police reported today.

John A. Lindahl, of Apt. 3, 27 Harbor Street, San Rafael, told police that young men were sitting at the table. When they left, so did the table. No get-away car was seen, Lindahl said. The table was described as having a wooden top and heavy metal base.

A GRAND EFFORT

Darlene Yankloski, who was 1 year old today, really has something to cry about, but the cry should be a cheer. She has six living grandparents, of whom the oldest is her great-great-great-grandfather, Albert Stevens of Wellsville, Ohio. She has living representatives of each of five preceding generations. Expense Trim Detailed For Juvenile Hall

County Probation Officer Walter Busher told the Marin County Board of Supervisors yesterday that he has decided he can cut $620 off his recently estimated requirements for juvenile hall.

He detailed several items which he'd expected to buy but which he now thinks can be obtained at less or no cost, including an adding machine from another department, a record player probably coming as gift from a community organization, and cuts on such items as cabinets and recreation material.

This was supplemented by a new analysis of staff requirements sent by Administrator Alan Bruce, recommending that regular hire positions be kept at the presently authorized 15, but reshuffled to take account of caring for youngsters in expanded space due to new construction.

Additional personnel could be authorized on a flexible extra hire basis for use only as necessary at discretion of the superintendent, depending on population pressures, said Bruce.

But the board found Bruce a bit too optimistic on part of his letter in which he voiced congratulations to Busher and staff, the sheriff's office and the juvenile court judge "on their success in reducing the Juvenile Hall population to the present census figure in the low 20s."

"That population figure seems to have been just a fluke, Bruce interjected. "Now they have about 34 to 36 again."

No action was taken on any of the submissions.

MAN LOCKS SELF UP AT TAVERN —NOW HE'S LOCKED UP AT JAIL

Edward J. Cornwell of 1423 Lincoln Avenue, San Rafael, janitor at the Calvacade Bar at 813 Fourth Street, couldn't clean the bar's back room this morning.

Somebody was inside and refused to open the bar. Cornwell called San Rafael police.

The man in the back room wouldn't open the door for them, either.

Police called bartender Forrest R. Mitchell of 911½ Lincoln Avenue. He unlocked the door.

Inside, they found Frederick O. Lauderman of no fixed address, who was charged with vagrancy and taken to the Marin County Jail.

At the county jail, police found there was a warrant for Mitchell's arrest for failure to appear on a drunk charge. Judge Leonard Thomas had given him permission to attend a funeral on March 7. He failed to appear when scheduled again on March 10 and a bench warrant was issued for his arrest.

Lauderman has been arrested 49 times since 1959 for being drunk.

Hub Council Will Discuss Plan Member

The San Anselmo City Council will discuss reappointment of Charles R. Leitzell to the city's planning commission at the meeting at 8 p.m. today in the city hall.

Leitzell was appointed to fill out the term of Merritt Webster on Sept. 20, 1959. He was elected vice chairman of the commission last month. The term expires next month.

City Manager Douglas J. Flautt will give a report on cost of maintaining magnolia trees planted in boxes in the business district. The councilmen are, also slated to discuss the cost of new street lights for the downtown area, said city Clerk Anita Gannon.

E. R. Hartneck is scheduled to make an appeal from planning commission denial of a use permit to take boarders at 41 Austin Avenue.

Expenditures at the No. 2 firehouse and cost of a new baseball diamond in the city park are also slated to be discussed.

Elephant Rock Placed Before Supervisors Again

Tiburon's Chamber of Commerce heaved Elephant Rock into the lap of the Marin County Board of Supervisors again yesterday.

Board members groaned and wondered if various recreational problems weren't creating need for some sort of special county recreation district.

Elephant Rock, where voluntary effort of Tiburon residents and chamber recently provided a fishing pier just offshore, has been repeatedly tendered to the county and just as regularly rejected.

The supervisors had suggested that maybe the South Marin Recreation Center could take over maintenance and insurance of the pier. The Tiburon chamber reported yesterday the center is "non-profit in nature and not suitable."

Chairman William D. Fusselman said the chamber's latest idea of asking the county park and recreation commission to make a study was no use, and that budget time was the time to go into such things.

"Weren't they taking subscriptions?" asked Supervisor Walter R. Castro.

"I'm just as confused as you are," Fusselman confessed in the absence of Supervisor J. Walter Blair, one of the pier's sponsors. "Referring to the recreation commission only means we're going to finance a project anyway. But we might form a separate recreation district with its own commission and let them have such matters.

"I am not opposed to taking on various recreational things but we must be realistic and find the money to take care of them."

Next item was a letter from the Paradise Property Owners Assn. about the former Tiburon Naval Net Depot property bought by the county, not yet ready for use, but subject to "misuse by trespassers" who break the fence.

The board sent for public works director Marvin W. Brigham who agreed that the fence has deteriorated and should be replaced. He estimated cost at $6,000 to $7,000. He said the money was available and the board told him to proceed.

Novato Community Club Directors Plan Election

Directors of the Novato Community Club last night nominated 17 persons for club office and agreed to ask club members to approve a loan for repair of the clubhouse.

Election will be April 24.

Under club bylaws, the board of directors may borrow up to $500 without asking membership approval; with approval, directors may borrow up to $5,000. Directors will be asking for this approval at the election meeting of the members.

A request for a change in club bylaws to permit borrowing up to $6,500 for repair and maintenance of the clubhouse at 906 Machin Street was voted down by club members last December, by 22 to 14.

The funds would be used to bring the clubhouse up to fire safety standards, club president George Wahl reported. Wahl was chairman of last night's board meeting, the first time since October, 1960, when he took a leave of absence as president to direct the play, "Mr. Roberts," being produced by the drama section of the club.

The status of the clubhouse and the power of its members to borrow is clouded by a suit by club member Alfred Bowman who is asking the courts to give the clubhouse to the city. The city has been drawn into the action on Bowman's side, through legal maneuvers.

Jack Sorenson, now clubhouse chairman, was nominated last night for president. Sheldon Nickols was nominated for first vice president. Joe Jacob was nominated for third vice president; Mrs. George Barnwell, for fourth vice president. No one was nominated as second vice president.

Robert Thomas was nominated for treasurer; Mrs. Richard Colombo for recording secretary; Mrs. Edward Grundstrom, for corresponding secretary.

Nominated for the board of directors, with eight to be elected, were Richard Casey, Dr. Leo Wagner, Harry Overly, James Helmick, Charles Roberts, Eleanor Lafranchi, Aaron Hiller, Vincent McGovern, Robert Patterson and Mrs. Wayne Tharpe.

Mrs. Tharpe, a member of the garden section of the community club, was added to the nomination list only after Mrs. Robert Merritt, a club director and member of the garden section, requested it, noting that no member of the garden section was on the list of nominees.

"You can call this stacked if you want," Wahle said, and went on to say he wanted no one nominated who favored giving up the clubhouse.

The garden section has been the most vociferous group favoring giving the clubhouse to the city.

Capitol Vet 'Picks' GOP Governor

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—Frank M. Jordan, veteran Republican secretary of state, plans to run for re-election in 1962 and knows who he thinks should head the GOP ticket.

Jordan released a copy of a letter he sent yesterday to V. John Krehbiel, chairman of the Republican State Central Committee. In it, the 72-year-old office-holder, first elected secretary of state in 1942, made these points:

A good twosome to head up the Republican ticket would be Laughlin E. Waters, U. S. attorney in Los Angeles and former state Assemblyman, for governor, and Harold J. (Butch) Powers, defeated in a bid for re-election in 1958, to return to the statehouse once again as lieutenant governor.

Other Republican possibilities "all seem coy about taking this (an early campaign start) seriously." Jordan put in that category such GOP gubernatorial prospects as ex-Gov. Goodwin J. Knight, Sens. John F. McCarthy and Richard J. Dolwig, Powers, Assemblyman Joseph C. Shell and Mayor George Christopher of San Francisco.

"There is a lot of work to be done at the grass roots so let's not make the mistake of waiting until election year," Jordan told Krehbiel. "We can't take it for granted that the Democrats will be a push-over in '62."

Jordan concluded his letter by saying:

"...finitely a candidate for re-election and I think other aspirants for state offices should announce themselves at this time. This stand should be taken by everyone from governor on down to the legislature."

Radical Right Dangerous, Mosk Warns

SONORA (AP) — Contending subversion from the radical right is as dangerous as from the radical left, Atty. Gen. Stanley Mosk lists six tests for determining extremism yesterday in a speech to the Tuolumne County Chamber of Commerce. They were:

1. Does the organization attack schools and churches with blanket accusations?

2. Does it attack other traditional American institutions with wild unsupported charges?

3. Does it label everyone un-American or subversive with whom it disagrees politically?

4. Does it try to rewrite modern history by blaming American statesmen for wars, communism, depression, and all other ills of the world?

5. Does it resort to crude pressure tactics by such means as anonymous phone-calling and letter-writing campaigns?

6. Do the spokesmen appear more interested in the size of their money collections than in the principles they purport to espouse?

"Apply these six tests," Mosk said, "and you will avoid entangling memberships with, and contributions to, such groups as the American Nazi Party, the Communists, the Ku Klux Klan, the John Birch Society, the Cinema Educational Guild, the Muslims, and others of that type."

Mosk declared the fanatical groups springing up on the extreme right "must be as closely checked as the Communists, for they are equally dangerous to orderly democracy."

Disease List Led By Mumps

Mumps continues to head the list of communicable diseases in Marin County.

Other diseases reported last week: Measles, 14 cases; streptococcus infections, nine; infectious hepatitis two, and gonorrhea one.

Ends Combat Course

Marine Pvt. Harrison T. Overture III, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Overture Jr. of 48 Morningsun Avenue, Mill Valley, completed a four-week individual combat training course last week with the Second Infantry Training Regiment at the Marine Corps Base, Camp Pendleton.

Shopping District Zone Sought In Corte Madera

A request to rezone approximately seven acres in Fifer Industrial Park from highway commercial to shopping district commercial zoning will be discussed again by the Corte Madera Planning Commission April 10.

The request for the zoning change by Edward H. and May Marion Fifer would permit construction of "A supermarket and adjoining service shops." Present highway commercial zoning does not allow such use.

Postponement of the decision at last night's commission meeting was made to allow study of the proposal by the firm of Livingston and Blayney, town planning consultant firm. At the same time, the planners requested the matter be scheduled for a hearing before the town council April 17 to speed final action on the proposal. Without the special request for inclusion on the council agenda for April 17, the matter could not come before the council for at least two additional weeks.

The planners approved an amendment to the town zoning ordinance which would allow fences, walls and hedges to be constructed to a height of eight feet. Present limitation is a height of six feet except in front yards and at street intersections where the limit is three-and-one-half feet. The front yard and intersection limitations were no changed by the amendment.

A proposed 1961-62 budget of $2,750 was taken under study by the commission for discussion April 10. Last year's budget was $2,550.

KENNEDY

The deficit contrasts with Eisenhower's forecasts of a 1.5-billion-dollar surplus. Most of the surplus vanished with the drop in tax revenues caused by the recession, Kennedy said.

Along with his proposals for more spending Kennedy mentioned plans to shut down more than 70 military installations here and abroad.

In addition to Polaris and Minuteman, which accounted for almost 1.5 billion dollars of the suggested boost, Kennedy asked for funds to strengthen the Skybolt long-range nuclear-warhead ballistic missile, increase the ground alert force and bomb alarms, improve continental defense and warning systems, increase flexibility of conventional forces and increase military manpower by 13,000.

Kennedy said savings could be made by the "elimination of waste, duplication and outmoded or unjustifiable expenditure items." He proposed abandonment of two squadrons of the Titan missile, much of the B-70 manned bomber program, a number of B-47 medium bomber wings and military interest in the atomic-powered plane project.

Kennedy also turned down once more the request of the Army to go into production of the Zeus anti-missile before full testing is completed.

The basic change in the weapon system proposed by Kennedy was a 50 per cent increase in the Polaris missile submarine fleet by the end of 1964 and more money for the Air Force's Minuteman program.

The increase for the Polaris program—more submarines, a speedup in rocket range, more men for crews—would raise the over-all program by 1.3 billion dollars.

In his State of the Union message, Kennedy had announced an acceleration in the Polaris submarine building program to increase fiscal 1961 building from five to 10.

Today, he recommended, additionally, that the fiscal 1962 program contain provision for 10 more rocket subs, with the whole construction program stepped up to a rate of 12 a year instead of the original five.

The president urged acceleration of the program to develop a 2,500-mile range Polaris rocket, to make those weapons available a year earlier.

Athough the president proposed that production capacity for Minuteman missiles should he doubted to "to move to still higher levels of strength more swiftly," he rejected an Air Force idea about the use of some of those missiles. He recommended eliminating from the budget money to mount three squadrons of Minutemen on railroad cars, but said development work on that part of the program would continue.

Kennedy requested an additional 96 million dollars in new money for the Minuteman program.

Kennedy recommended a 13,000-man increase in military manpower. This would add 5,000 to the Army most of them to increase the special forces for guerrilla-type warfare and to create an additional battle group of about 1,800 men; 3,000 for the Navy, chiefly for more Polaris crews; 3,000 for the Marines to provide an additional infantry battalion, and 2,000 for the Air Force, primarily for increasing the ground crews in a stepped-up ground alert program.

The proposed elimination of military interest in the atomic-powered airplane project comes after about one billion dollars and 15 years were spent on it. A defense spokesman told newsmen that "we see no likelihood of a militarily useful plane within the time or money we can afford."

The B-70 bomber project is intended to produce planes able to fly more than 2,000 miles an hour at superhigh altitudes.

Ballistic missiles make "unnecessary and economically unjustifiable the development of the B-70 . . . at this time," Kennedy said.

The president proposed a 226-million-dollar increase in new money for space and missile defense projects. These include the Midas satellite for detecting, through infrared radiation, the launching of enemy missiles.

Jail Inmate Ends Hunger Strike

Warren Edwin Straw III, 24, who was recaptured on Sunday after being AWOL from Marin County Jail for one week, launched a brief hunger strike in his jail cell.

But jailers reported this morning that Straw would be well-fed by the time of his court appearance this afternoon.

Sunday and yesterday, Straw refused to eat when food was offered him, but today he was taking his meals with the rest of the inmates. According to jailers, Straw gave no reason for refusing to eat for two days.

Straw was originally arrested on a traffic warrant. On March 19, he walked out of his unlocked cell door and vanished. Captured in San Francisco, Straw now faces an escape charge, plus suspicion of failing to support his family. He gave his address as 412 Pine Street, Sausalito.

BROWN WIRES SUPPORT OF PARK TO D.C.

SACRAMENTO (AP)—In telegrams to two Washington officials today, Gov. Edmund G. Brown urged the preservation of the Point Reyes Peninsula as a national seashore area.

He told Secretary of the Interior Stewart Udall and Senator Clinton P. Anderson (D-N.M.):

"This splendid sweep of scenic coastline must be preserved for present and future generations of all Americans if our efforts to provide needed recreation areas are to have meaning."

The governor also announced that Charles de Turk, chief of the Division of Beaches and Parks will testify before a Senate committee in behalf of legislation to make the area a national park.

spring, said he was "fully convinced."

McCarthy asked the senators to keep an open mind until they heard both sides.

McCarthy, the dairy farmers' attorney, asked the senators to inspect the area to see for themselves why, although close to a large metropolitan area, it has remained relatively undeveloped.

"It is a rugged, rough, cold, windy, foggy area," he said. "That's why it hasn't been developed."

He said one subdivision has been going forward slowly since 1956. He predicted that none of the dairy area and most of the rest of the peninsula will never be subdivided.

He appended 10 pages of proposals for construction work on primary and secondary roads and bridges and these must be gone over by the board to see what, if any, can be eliminated.

PT. REYES

that have been made in a tentative economic report, based on preliminary data, completed early last year. It represents a "meeting of the minds between the Marin County assessor and the National Park Service" on assessed valuations.

According to Broemmel, the report states, the market value of the lands and improvements within the proposed national seashore is somewhat more than $10,300,000.

It emphasizes that this figure would not necessarily represent the final cost of acquisition by the federal government, and notes an increase in subdividing in the area in the past two years.

The longer acquisition is delayed, the greater the land costs will be, says the report.

Broemmel estimates a maximum of about $60,300 (of the $160,000 total 1959-60 tax revenue) would be lost to county and local governments if the national seashore were managed as proposed, the Federal government made no in-lieu tax payments, and if there were no taxable public use developments by private interests.

But the economic survey indicates that removal of lands from the tax rolls because of establishment of the seashore would not necessarily result in increased burdens on other property owners. It hazards that various taxes paid by existing and new facilities and services for the visitors would more than compensate for any loss.

The survey points out that the largest loss in tax revenue would be suffered by the school districts serving the Point Reyes area.

But it claims such losses could be largely relieved through reorganization of the districts, now under study.

The main concern of Marin residents at present is possible loss of tax revenues, the report states. "There is a strong feeling among the residents that compensation should be made by the federal government to offset any loss in revenues," it adds.

The report comments on the small proportion of industrial properties in Marin, compared to other counties in the Bay Area, resulting in a "property tax burden on households which is greater than for any other Bay Area County."

A national seashore would serve the same purpose as industrial property, the survey states, attracting taxable commerce and facilities beyond what would otherwise be required to serve the visiting public. This would add to the property, sales, gasoline and other tax bases in the county.

Of the 53,000 acres proposed for a national seashore, 33,000 acres would be managed solely for public use and 20,000 acres in the central part of the peninsula would be leased for ranching purposes.

The proposed seashore boundaries include 15 dairy ranches and 10 beef cattle ranches. About half the lands would continue operation under lease agreement, the report says.

Almost all the peninsula is privately owned, and there is now very limited access to the shoreline.

If the seashore is developed, facilities to be provided on the land in the public use portion would include a road system with about 25 miles of new roads, hiking and riding trails, campgrounds, bathhouses, picnic facilities, docks, self guiding trails and interpretive signs and markers to tell the story of the earth and life resources of the peninsula.

The report estimates the national seashore would receive 2.1 million visitors by 1980. A Point Reyes National Seashore would provide an attractive side trip for many visitors to Yosemite, as it would for visitors to San Francisco. Highway improvements would permit tourists to reach Point Reyes from Yosemite in a half day's normal driving time, the report states.

Under the present proposals, Marin County would not lose the total value of the beef and dairy herds. The total size of beef herds, and the yield from that activity are both low, and Marin is not an important beef producer, the report says.

It also states that dairy use of the seashore acreage is not a critical factor in total dairy production of Marin. Adjustments in output could be made in other nearby milk-producing areas, or by relocating the herds to other areas, the report says.

the properties of the transit district.

The governor declared he "hasn't gone far" with his investigation of the advisability of such an issue. He said he will consult "experts as to ways in which the state can help the mass transit situation in both the north and the south.

But he is "withholding judgment" on Peirce's proposal until "I see the plans a little more formulated" and he looks at state income and other taxes this May.

The transit suggestion came out of a discussion in which the governor revealed he is considering a one-billion-dollar bond issue for a 10-year college and university construction program.

He said the state now has six colleges, including Sonoma State College at Cotati, three university campuses and a new medical school "under way at this time."

Shopping District Zone Sought In Corte Madera

A request to rezone approximately seven acres in Fifer Industrial Park from highway commercial to shopping district commercial zoning will be discussed again by the Corte Madera Planning Commission April 10.

The request for the zoning change by Edward H. and May Marion Fifer would permit construction of "A supermarket and adjoining service shops." Present highway commercial zoning does not allow such use.

Postponement of the decision at last night's commission meeting was made to allow study of the proposal by the firm of Livingston and Blayney, town planning consultant firm. At the same time, the planners requested the matter be scheduled for a hearing before the town council April 17 to speed final action on the proposal. Without the special request for inclusion on the council agenda for April 17, the matter could not come before the council for at least two additional weeks.

The planners approved an amendment to the town zoning ordinance which would allow fences, walls and hedges to be constructed to a height of eight feet. Present limitation is a height of six feet except in front yards and at street intersections where the limit is three-and-one-half feet. The front yard and intersection limitations were no changed by the amendment.

A proposed 1961-62 budget of $2,750 was taken under study by the commission for discussion April 10. Last year's budget was $2,550.

The deficit contrasts with Eisenhower's forecasts of a 1.5-billion-dollar surplus. Most of the surplus vanished with the drop in tax revenues caused by the recession, Kennedy said.

Along with his proposals for more spending Kennedy mentioned plans to shut down more than 70 military installations here and abroad.

In addition to Polaris and Minuteman, which accounted for almost 1.5 billion dollars of the suggested boost, Kennedy asked for funds to strengthen the Skybolt long-range nuclear-warhead ballistic missile, increase the ground alert force and bomb alarms, improve continental defense and warning systems, increase flexibility of conventional forces and increase military manpower by 13,000.

Kennedy said savings could be made by the "elimination of waste, duplication and outmoded or unjustifiable expenditure items." He proposed abandonment of two squadrons of the Titan missile, much of the B-70 manned bomber program, a number of B-47 medium bomber wings and military interest in the atomic-powered plane project.

Kennedy also turned down once more the request of the Army to go into production of the Zeus anti-missile before full testing is completed.

The basic change in the weapon system proposed by Kennedy was a 50 per cent increase in the Polaris missile submarine fleet by the end of 1964 and more money for the Air Force's Minuteman program.

The increase for the Polaris program—more submarines, a speedup in rocket range, more men for crews—would raise the over-all program by 1.3 billion dollars.

In his State of the Union message, Kennedy had announced an acceleration in the Polaris submarine building program to increase fiscal 1961 building from five to 10.

Today, he recommended, additionally, that the fiscal 1962 program contain provision for 10 more rocket subs, with the whole construction program stepped up to a rate of 12 a year instead of the original five.

The president urged acceleration of the program to develop a 2,500-mile range Polaris rocket, to make those weapons available a year earlier.

Athough the president proposed that production capacity for Minuteman missiles should he doubted to "to move to still higher levels of strength more swiftly," he rejected an Air Force idea about the use of some of those missiles. He recommended eliminating from the budget money to mount three squadrons of Minutemen on railroad cars, but said development work on that part of the program would continue.

Kennedy requested an additional 96 million dollars in new money for the Minuteman program.

Kennedy recommended a 13,000-man increase in military manpower. This would add 5,000 to the Army most of them to increase the special forces for guerrilla-type warfare and to create an additional battle group of about 1,800 men; 3,000 for the Navy, chiefly for more Polaris crews; 3,000 for the Marines to provide an additional infantry battalion, and 2,000 for the Air Force, primarily for increasing the ground crews in a stepped-up ground alert program.

The proposed elimination of military interest in the atomic-powered airplane project comes after about one billion dollars and 15 years were spent on it. A defense spokesman told newsmen that "we see no likelihood of a militarily useful plane within the time or money we can afford."

The B-70 bomber project is intended to produce planes able to fly more than 2,000 miles an hour at superhigh altitudes.

Ballistic missiles make "unnecessary and economically unjustifiable the development of the B-70 . . . at this time," Kennedy said.

The president proposed a 226-million-dollar increase in new money for space and missile defense projects. These include the Midas satellite for detecting, through infrared radiation, the launching of enemy missiles.

Jail Inmate Ends Hunger Strike

Warren Edwin Straw III, 24, who was recaptured on Sunday after being AWOL from Marin County Jail for one week, launched a brief hunger strike in his jail cell.

But jailers reported this morning that Straw would be well-fed by the time of his court appearance this afternoon.

Sunday and yesterday, Straw refused to eat when food was offered him, but today he was taking his meals with the rest of the inmates. According to jailers, Straw gave no reason for refusing to eat for two days.

Straw was originally arrested on a traffic warrant. On March 19, he walked out of his unlocked cell door and vanished. Captured in San Francisco, Straw now faces an escape charge, plus suspicion of failing to support his family. He gave his address as 412 Pine Street, Sausalito.

BROWN WIRES SUPPORT OF PARK TO D.C.

SACRAMENTO (AP)—In telegrams to two Washington officials today, Gov. Edmund G. Brown urged the preservation of the Point Reyes Peninsula as a national seashore area.

He told Secretary of the Interior Stewart Udall and Senator Clinton P. Anderson (D-N.M.):

"This splendid sweep of scenic coastline must be preserved for present and future generations of all Americans if our efforts to provide needed recreation areas are to have meaning."

The governor also announced that Charles de Turk, chief of the Division of Beaches and Parks will testify before a Senate committee in behalf of legislation to make the area a national park.

spring, said he was "fully convinced."

McCarthy asked the senators to keep an open mind until they heard both sides.

McCarthy, the dairy farmers' attorney, asked the senators to inspect the area to see for themselves why, although close to a large metropolitan area, it has remained relatively undeveloped.

"It is a rugged, rough, cold, windy, foggy area," he said. "That's why it hasn't been developed."

He said one subdivision has been going forward slowly since 1956. He predicted that none of the dairy area and most of the rest of the peninsula will never be subdivided.

He appended 10 pages of proposals for construction work on primary and secondary roads and bridges and these must be gone over by the board to see what, if any, can be eliminated.

that have been made in a tentative economic report, based on preliminary data, completed early last year. It represents a "meeting of the minds between the Marin County assessor and the National Park Service" on assessed valuations.

According to Broemmel, the report states, the market value of the lands and improvements within the proposed national seashore is somewhat more than $10,300,000.

It emphasizes that this figure would not necessarily represent the final cost of acquisition by the federal government, and notes an increase in subdividing in the area in the past two years.

The longer acquisition is delayed, the greater the land costs will be, says the report.

Broemmel estimates a maximum of about $60,300 (of the $160,000 total 1959-60 tax revenue) would be lost to county and local governments if the national seashore were managed as proposed, the Federal government made no in-lieu tax payments, and if there were no taxable public use developments by private interests.

But the economic survey indicates that removal of lands from the tax rolls because of establishment of the seashore would not necessarily result in increased burdens on other property owners. It hazards that various taxes paid by existing and new facilities and services for the visitors would more than compensate for any loss.

The survey points out that the largest loss in tax revenue would be suffered by the school districts serving the Point Reyes area.

But it claims such losses could be largely relieved through reorganization of the districts, now under study.

The main concern of Marin residents at present is possible loss of tax revenues, the report states. "There is a strong feeling among the residents that compensation should be made by the federal government to offset any loss in revenues," it adds.

The report comments on the small proportion of industrial properties in Marin, compared to other counties in the Bay Area, resulting in a "property tax burden on households which is greater than for any other Bay Area County."

A national seashore would serve the same purpose as industrial property, the survey states, attracting taxable commerce and facilities beyond what would otherwise be required to serve the visiting public. This would add to the property, sales, gasoline and other tax bases in the county.

Of the 53,000 acres proposed for a national seashore, 33,000 acres would be managed solely for public use and 20,000 acres in the central part of the peninsula would be leased for ranching purposes.

The proposed seashore boundaries include 15 dairy ranches and 10 beef cattle ranches. About half the lands would continue operation under lease agreement, the report says.

Almost all the peninsula is privately owned, and there is now very limited access to the shoreline.

If the seashore is developed, facilities to be provided on the land in the public use portion would include a road system with about 25 miles of new roads, hiking and riding trails, campgrounds, bathhouses, picnic facilities, docks, self guiding trails and interpretive signs and markers to tell the story of the earth and life resources of the peninsula.

The report estimates the national seashore would receive 2.1 million visitors by 1980. A Point Reyes National Seashore would provide an attractive side trip for many visitors to Yosemite, as it would for visitors to San Francisco. Highway improvements would permit tourists to reach Point Reyes from Yosemite in a half day's normal driving time, the report states.

Under the present proposals, Marin County would not lose the total value of the beef and dairy herds. The total size of beef herds, and the yield from that activity are both low, and Marin is not an important beef producer, the report says.

It also states that dairy use of the seashore acreage is not a critical factor in total dairy production of Marin. Adjustments in output could be made in other nearby milk-producing areas, or by relocating the herds to other areas, the report says.

the properties of the transit district.

The governor declared he "hasn't gone far" with his investigation of the advisability of such an issue. He said he will consult "experts as to ways in which the state can help the mass transit situation in both the north and the south.

But he is "withholding judgment" on Peirce's proposal until "I see the plans a little more formulated" and he looks at state income and other taxes this May.

The transit suggestion came out of a discussion in which the governor revealed he is considering a one-billion-dollar bond issue for a 10-year college and university construction program.

He said the state now has six colleges, including Sonoma State College at Cotati, three university campuses and a new medical school "under way at this time."

The accident occured about a third of a mile north of the tunnel at 8:49 a.m. Traffic was held up in the southbound lanes for some time.

Supervisors Confirm Blair Appointments

Five recommendations for district board positions were sent to the Marin County Board of Supervisors by letter from Supervisor J. Walter Blair yesterday and unanimously confirmed by the other four members due to Blair's renewed absence after return to duty last week.

Blair was away throughout February and the first half of March due to illness and an operation, creating a backlog of continued business which started to pile up again yesterday and caused Chairman William D. Fusselman to promise inquiry as to Blair's condition.

The appointments confirmed included two to the board of fire commissioners of the Stinson Beach Fire Protection District.

Elting C. Hubbard was named to fill the unexpired term of Manuel Fostine, resigned, until April of next year and Joseph F. Lawrence will similarly replace Otto Rasmussen in a term running till April, 1963.

The other three were to the board of the Strawberry Recreation District: Marcel R. Ehrer, 305 Strawberry Drive, for a four-year term starting Saturday, replacing Stephen H. Kaufman; B. E. Trice of 60 Bayview Terrace for a four-year term also starting Saturday replacing L. J. Smith, and Loyal M. Nerdahl of 140 Reed Boulevard, to fill the unexpired term of Richard C. Paine, expiring March 31, 1962.

The board also appointed Bill DeFrance of Kentfield to succeed himself April 18 for another three-year term on the board of the Kentfield Fire District board, no other candidate for the post having filed.

SUPERVISORS ROUNDUP

Former Clerk Deputy Gets Two Weeks' Pay

Doyle Trent Cleveland will receive two weeks' termination pay from Marin County as result of his recent appeal against alleged dismissal by County Clerk George S. Jones.

The board of supervisors yesterday voted the money, based on Cleveland's $481 monthly as legal clerk, in support of a finding by the personnel commission that Jones had fired Cleveland when the latter sought to give two weeks notice of resignation. But the board balked on formal action to make this a rule hereafter.

Cleveland's action, said a decision signed by commission chairman Julius Selinger, followed an "unwritten custom" termed "a salutary one which should be encouraged" because "its observance enables the business to proceed smoothly and without interruption (giving) opportunity to find a suitable replacement."

An employee should feel free to conform to this custom, the decision went on, and "he should not entertain the least fear that he exposes himself to instant dismissal when he gives such notice of intention to resign."

The commission recommended that county employees be required to give two weeks' notice of resigning. But Chairman William Fusselman of the board of supervisors, declared "we'll hold this for awhile." No one argued about the delay.

1. Passed a resolution releasing the tax collector-treasurer from acccountability for taxes under $10 on unsecured property.

2. Indefinitely postponed a scheduled hearing on troubles of the Marin County Soil Conservation District, directors being unable to appear.

3. Appointed Jons Van Norden Curtis deputy clerk of the municipal court at $366 monthly; Elizabeth Sovulewski registered nurse at the county hospital and farm at $350; and Mabel H. Fredericksen senior stenographer clerk in the county clerk's office at $366.

4. Relieved Larkspur School District of obligation to pay Feb. 1-July 1 taxes on newly purchased property at Mariners Cove, Paradise Drive.

5. Filed a letter from Fred C. Hannas as president of the Tiburon Property Owners Assn. asking the board to rescind approval of an extra cent on the state gasoline tax because the present 10-cent federal-state tax is "grossly out of line and represents a disproportation percentage of retail price."

AUTO STOLEN? NO, BUT REPAIR WORK BILLED

Mrs. Joan Rafter of Belvedere reported to police yesterday that her car had been stolen from in front of her house at 226 Bayview Avenue—but, on checking, Police found it was a case of mistaken identity.

Richard Scheiner, mechanic for Royal Auto Service of Mill Valley, went to Belvedere to pick up an Austin belonging to Mrs. John Moore of 32 Golden Gate Avenue to make repairs. The car was to be parked at 246 Bayview with the keys in it.

Scheiner found an Austin—that of Mrs. Rafter's—parked at 226 Bayview with keys in it. Assuming it was the one, he drove it to Mill Valley. By the time the error was discovered, compression tests had been run on the car and it was learned that Mrs. Rafter's car needed work, too. It was to be returned to her today—with the garage bill.

Truck Driver Hurt

Congo Soldiers Said Massing For Offensive

ELISABETHVILLE (AP)—White-officered Katanga soldiers today were reported massing in central Katanga for what United Nations officials say may be a big offensive against invaders sent by leftist Antoine Gizenga's Stanleyville regime.

Gen. Sean McKeown, U.N. commander in chief in the Congo, told a news conference the Katanga army may be getting ready to attack in the Manone area, the tin mining region where about 600 Gizenga soldiers seized control several months ago.

A battalion of U.N. Nigerian soldiers is stationed in the area as a buffer between the two Congolese forces, and McKeown said there is danger of their becoming involved in the fighting.

The U.N. commander expressed fear particularly of a clash between the Nigerians and white South African mercenaries serving with the Katanga army.

Reports reached U.N. headquarters of a three-way clash near Luluabourg between Lulua and Baluba tribesmen and U.N. Ghanian soldiers.

First reports indicated that three Ghanian soldiers are missing and at least one tribesman had been killed.

In Leopoldville, the United Nations and the Congo government there signed an agreement for the distribution of 11,200 tons of wheat flour donated by the U.S. government.

Shipments of 700 tons of the wheat flour have arrived in the Congo and have been distributed.

Window Breaking Wave Continues

The wave of window breaking that hit San Rafael in recent weeks is still continuing.

William T. Eckhoff of 1440 Donna Street, Novato, reported to San Rafael police that someone threw a beer bottle through the rear window of his car between 8:30 and 9:30 p.m. yesterday, while it was parked at Grand Avenue and Fourth Street in San Rafael.

Mrs. Olive D. Kanae of 820 E Street phoned San Rafael police at 1:30 a.m. today and said she had seen three juveniles stop a car at E and Third Streets. One of them ran up to the E Street School and broke a window with his fist, she reported.

Marin Keyes District Gets Board Backing

Attorney Leland H. Jordan obtained approval of the Marin County Board of Supervisors yesterday of a petition to form a community services district for the Bel Marin Keyes subdivision, a recreational marine project north of Hamilton Air Force Base which recently survived heavy attack by officials of the base who felt it was too close to jet plane paths.

Jordan said the district had been decided on with unanimous approval of property owners in view of various special problems, notably the need for extensive dredging of the lagoon which will give waterfront to every resident.

"Everybody has signed up so there is no possibility of opposition," said Leland when questioned by the board. The board set first hearing for 2 p.m. on April 18.

Jordan said today only about six property-owners are involved but that it was desired to establish a public agency early in the life of the subdivision rather than wait.

Presently contemplated as possible functions of the district, he said, additional to the dredging, will be street lighting, probably recreation, and possibly maintenance of a sewer system.

The Lava Beds National Monument was the battleground of the Modoc Indian war of 1873.

His wife, Margaret, and their 4-year-old daughter, Barbara, passengers in the vehicle which he was driving, were checked at the hospital but no injuries could be found. All were released.

Dean R. Cullen Jr., 18, of 591 Las Colinas Road, Terra Linda, driver of the other car, was thrown from his vehicle but did not receive any medical attention.

Supervisors Confirm Blair Appointments

Five recommendations for district board positions were sent to the Marin County Board of Supervisors by letter from Supervisor J. Walter Blair yesterday and unanimously confirmed by the other four members due to Blair's renewed absence after return to duty last week.

Blair was away throughout February and the first half of March due to illness and an operation, creating a backlog of continued business which started to pile up again yesterday and caused Chairman William D. Fusselman to promise inquiry as to Blair's condition.

The appointments confirmed included two to the board of fire commissioners of the Stinson Beach Fire Protection District.

Elting C. Hubbard was named to fill the unexpired term of Manuel Fostine, resigned, until April of next year and Joseph F. Lawrence will similarly replace Otto Rasmussen in a term running till April, 1963.

The other three were to the board of the Strawberry Recreation District: Marcel R. Ehrer, 305 Strawberry Drive, for a four-year term starting Saturday, replacing Stephen H. Kaufman; B. E. Trice of 60 Bayview Terrace for a four-year term also starting Saturday replacing L. J. Smith, and Loyal M. Nerdahl of 140 Reed Boulevard, to fill the unexpired term of Richard C. Paine, expiring March 31, 1962.

The board also appointed Bill DeFrance of Kentfield to succeed himself April 18 for another three-year term on the board of the Kentfield Fire District board, no other candidate for the post having filed.

Marin Keyes District Gets Board Backing

Attorney Leland H. Jordan obtained approval of the Marin County Board of Supervisors yesterday of a petition to form a community services district for the Bel Marin Keyes subdivision, a recreational marine project north of Hamilton Air Force Base which recently survived heavy attack by officials of the base who felt it was too close to jet plane paths.

Jordan said the district had been decided on with unanimous approval of property owners in view of various special problems, notably the need for extensive dredging of the lagoon which will give waterfront to every resident.

"Everybody has signed up so there is no possibility of opposition," said Leland when questioned by the board. The board set first hearing for 2 p.m. on April 18.

Jordan said today only about six property-owners are involved but that it was desired to establish a public agency early in the life of the subdivision rather than wait.

Presently contemplated as possible functions of the district, he said, additional to the dredging, will be street lighting, probably recreation, and possibly maintenance of a sewer system.

The Lava Beds National Monument was the battleground of the Modoc Indian war of 1873.

SUPERVISORS ROUNDUP

Former Clerk Deputy Gets Two Weeks' Pay

Doyle Trent Cleveland will receive two weeks' termination pay from Marin County as result of his recent appeal against alleged dismissal by County Clerk George S. Jones.

The board of supervisors yesterday voted the money, based on Cleveland's $481 monthly as legal clerk, in support of a finding by the personnel commission that Jones had fired Cleveland when the latter sought to give two weeks notice of resignation. But the board balked on formal action to make this a rule hereafter.

Cleveland's action, said a decision signed by commission chairman Julius Selinger, followed an "unwritten custom" termed "a salutary one which should be encouraged" because "its observance enables the business to proceed smoothly and without interruption (giving) opportunity to find a suitable replacement."

An employee should feel free to conform to this custom, the decision went on, and "he should not entertain the least fear that he exposes himself to instant dismissal when he gives such notice of intention to resign."

The commission recommended that county employees be required to give two weeks' notice of resigning. But Chairman William Fusselman of the board of supervisors, declared "we'll hold this for awhile." No one argued about the delay.

for defining and expressing in words, by ordinance or merit system rules, a well-recognized and generally accepted custom which requires an employee to give to the employer a reasonable notice of intention to resign."

1. Passed a resolution releasing the tax collector-treasurer from accountability for taxes under $10 on unsecured property.
2. Indefinitely postponed a scheduled hearing on troubles of the Marin County Soil Conservation District, directors being unable to appear.
3. Appointed Jons Van Norden Curtis deputy clerk of the municipal court at $366 monthly; Elizabeth Sovulewski registered nurse at the county hospital and farm at $350; and Mabel H. Fredericksen senior stenographer clerk in the county clerk's office at $366.
4. Relieved Larkspur School District of obligation to pay Feb. 1-July 1 taxes on newly purchased property at Mariners Cove, Paradise Drive.
5. Filed a letter from Fred C. Hannas as president of the Tiburon Property Owners Assn. asking the board to rescind approval of an extra cent on the state gasoline tax because the present 10-cent federal-state tax is "grossly out of line and represents a disproportation percentage of retail price."

AUTO STOLEN? NO, BUT REPAIR WORK BILLED

Mrs. Joan Rafter of Belvedere reported to police yesterday that her car had been stolen from in front of her house at 226 Bayview Avenue—but, on checking, Police found it was a case of mistaken identity.

Richard Scheiner, mechanic for Royal Auto Service of Mill Valley, went to Belvedere to pick up an Austin belonging to Mrs. John Moore of 32 Golden Gate Avenue to make repairs. The car was to be parked at 246 Bayview with the keys in it.

Scheiner found an Austin —that of Mrs. Rafter's— parked at 226 Bayview with keys in it. Assuming it was the one, he drove it to Mill Valley. By the time the error was discovered, compression tests had been run on the car and it was learned that Mrs. Rafter's car needed work, too. It was to be returned to her today—with the garage bill.

Truck Driver Hurt

Congo Soldiers Said Massing For Offensive

ELISABETHVILLE (AP)— White-officered Katanga soldiers today were reported massing in central Katanga for what United Nations officials say may be a big offensive against invaders sent by leftist Antoine Gizenga's Stanleyville regime.

Gen. Sean McKeown, U.N. commander in chief in the Congo, told a news conference the Katanga army may be getting ready to attack in the Manone area, the tin mining region where about 600 Gizenga soldiers seized control several months ago.

A battalion of U.N. Nigerian soldiers is stationed in the area as a buffer between the two Congolese forces, and McKeown said there is danger of their becoming involved in the fighting.

The U.N. commander expressed fear particularly of a clash between the Nigerians and white South African mercenaries serving with the Katanga army.

Reports reached U.N. headquarters of a three-way clash near Luluabourg between Lulua and Baluba tribesmen and U.N. Ghanian soldiers.

First reports indicated that three Ghanian soldiers are missing and at least one tribesman had been killed.

In Leopoldville, the United Nations and the Congo government there signed an agreement for the distribution of 11,200 tons of wheat flour donated by the U.S. government.

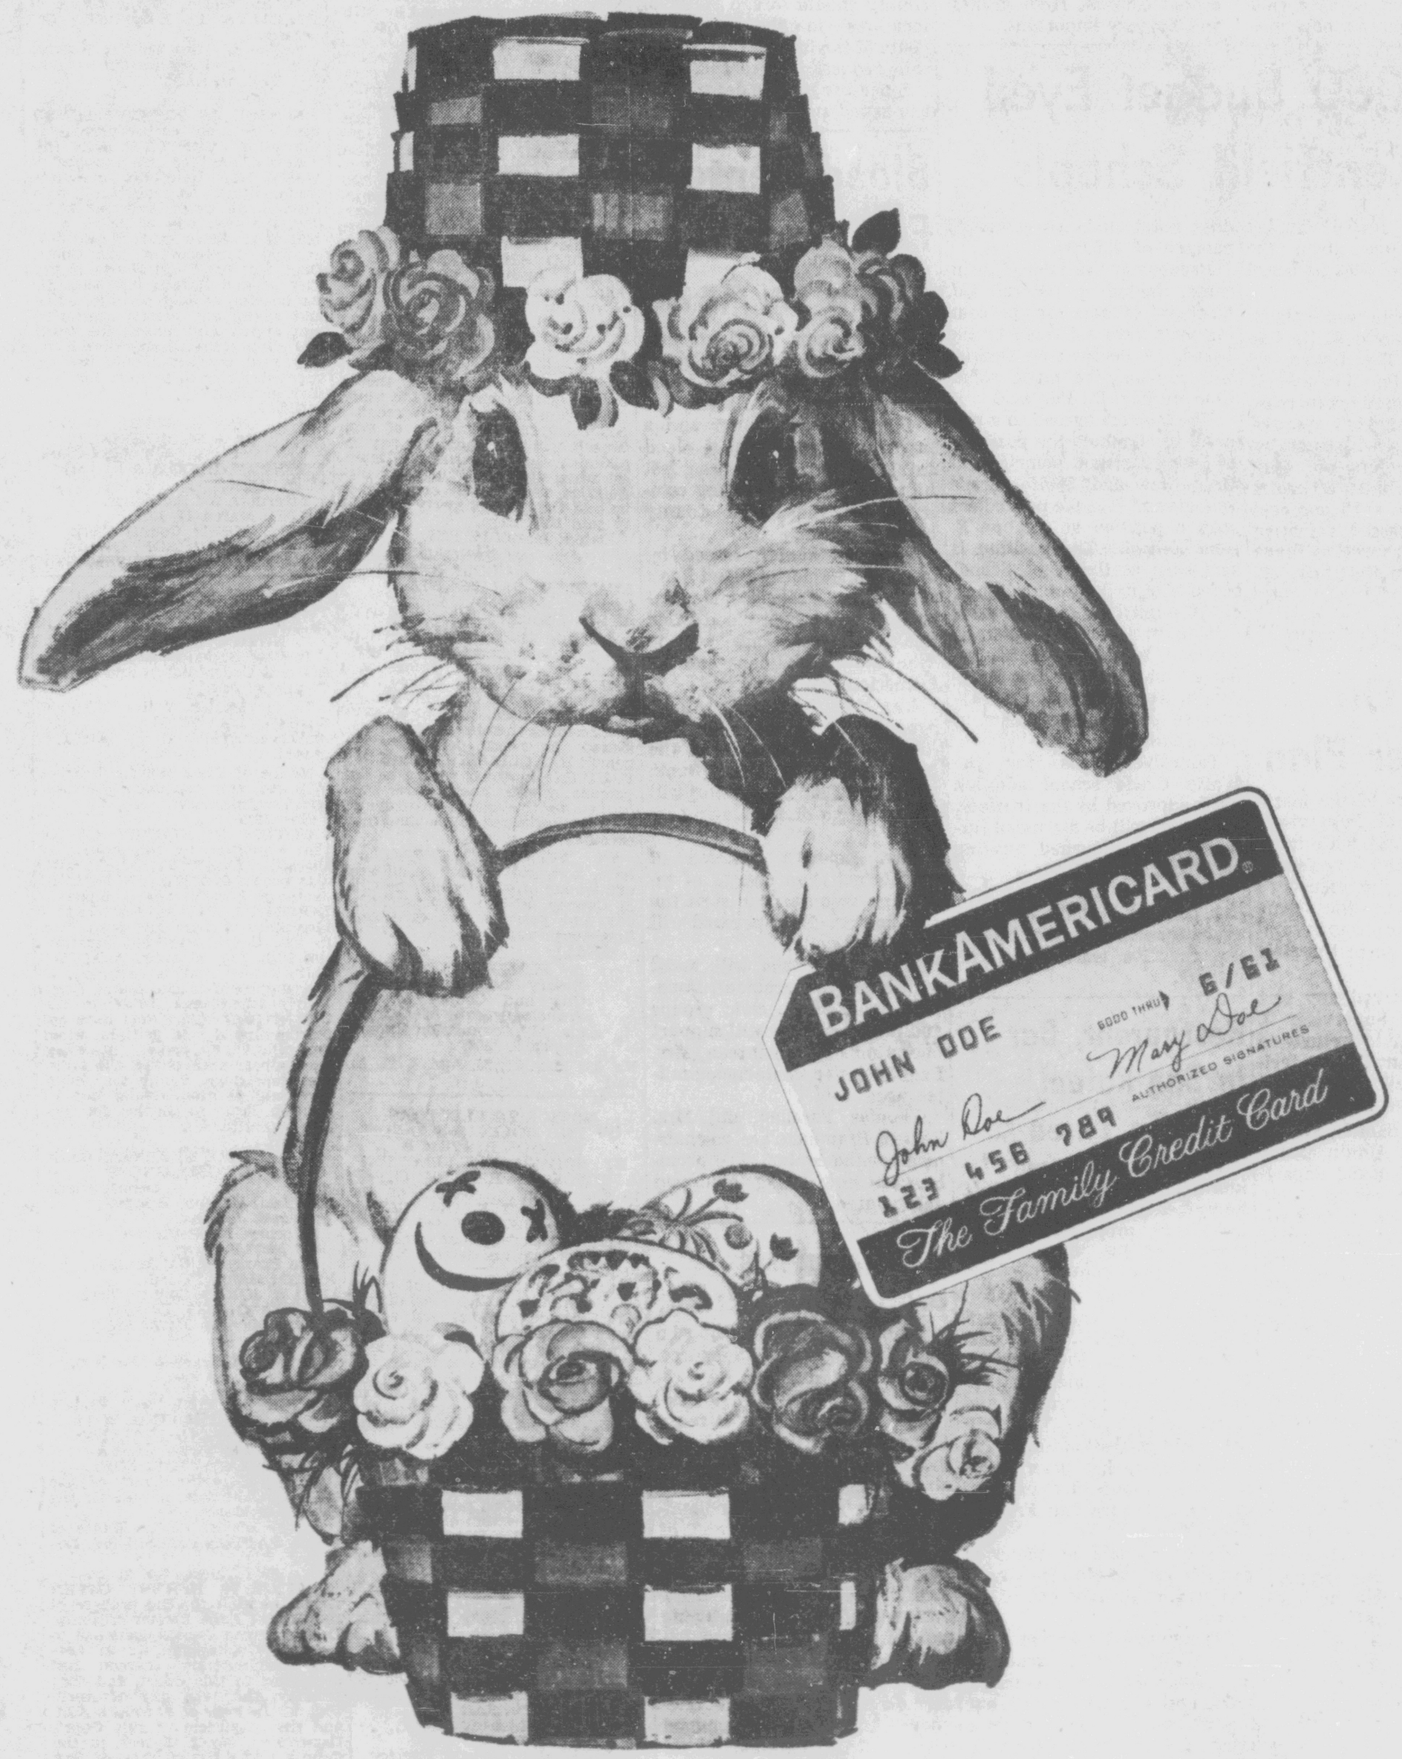

Shipments of 700 tons of the wheat flour have arrived in the Congo and have been distributed.

Window Breaking Wave Continues

The wave of window breaking that hit San Rafael in recent weeks is still continuing.

William T. Eckhoff of 1440 Donna Street, Novato, reported to San Rafael police that someone threw a beer bottle through the rear window of his car between 8:30 and 9:30 p.m. yesterday, while it was parked at Grand Avenue and Fourth Street in San Rafael.

Mrs. Olive D. Kanae of 820 E Street phoned San Rafael police at 1:30 a.m. today and said she had seen three juveniles stop a car at E and Third Streets. One of them ran up to the E Street School and broke a window with his fist, she reported.

Discourage Your Teen-Agers From Marriage Until They Are Older

The high school marrying season is just ahead. Will your children be bitten by the marrying bug? I hope not.

Every spring in some schools marriage becomes a fad. Usually it starts with one popular couple. They elope; then another, and another. Soon all the kids who go steady are setting wedding dates. I went to a high school graduation last June where half of the senior girls were married. Whew!

What's wrong with early marriage? Many things. Teenagers aren't ready for the job of maintaining a home. The girls aren't mature enough to be good mothers. The boys aren't ready to plug away at a job, month after month. The kids are not old enough to be sure their love will last. There's nothing worse than a teen-age marriage when love is gone. The high divorce rates for early marriages show the risks.

Many schools try to expel kids who marry. But when the expulsions are taken to court the judges usually rule that marired students have a right to an education. So now most schools let them in. However they don't permit them to take part in activities—no football, no clubs, no attendance at school parties. A surprising number of teenagers decide not to get married if it means they'll be barred from the prom.

Is your teen-ager talking of marriage? Discourage him, or her. Explain that you will not give consent. Underage boys and girls cannot be married without their parents' approval. If you don't weaken, you can block them. They'll feel hurt and be awfully mad for awhile. Then they'll recover; eventually they'll thank you. Good luck!

Marin Wants Fair Fund In Chunk, Not Pieces

Marin County's supervisors agreed with their fair advisory committee yesterday that it would be nice to have state money for constructing a grandstand and exhibit building all in one chunk.

They sighed over Sacramento's installment payment habit and authorized Administrator Alan Bruce to ask Sen. John F. McCarthy to arrange a conference with the State Department of Finance in an effort to get a $420,000 all at once sometime or other.

Bruce pointed out that the finance officials have allocated $115,000 for site development work this year and have indicated tentative approval of $105,000 in each of four years following for the construction job. But review by the committee and public works director has developed that it's uneconomical to build a structure in four yearly stages, said Bruce.

"The committee feels strongly," said the letter to McCarthy, "that the total sum of $420,000 should be allocated in a single year or over not more than two years, and combined with the funds now in hand, to allow economical construction of the entire building including site development as a single project.

"It is obvious that the total cost to the state would be considerably less on this basis. The committee believes that the county should forego major allocations in the remaining years of the total period, should this request be granted."

Since the finance department has asked submittal of a revised five year building program by June 1, the committee wants a meeting early next month for exploration of its proposal in lieu of re-submittal of the staged program, Bruce said.

"All must agree it's not right to this in jumps, but the general attitude is to hang onto the money," commented supervisors Chairman William D. Fusselman. He said he doubted that an immediate allocation could be obtained.

Bruce said the committee's idea was to use its proposal as a lever to keep the state from taking any money back.

"You should get the money advanced, or else not do anything till there is enough," said public works director Marvin W. Brigham.

"I agree on the unit idea but better be sure you get it," said Supervisor William Gnoss. "Our experience up north has been that it's best to spend everything year by year or they'll take it away."

Ast. Auditor-Controller Michael Mitchell felt that "the biggest concession likely will be the privilege of carrying over—to increase our allocation would mean cutting somebody else."

Library Loses $121 In Cash To Burglar

The Mill Valley Public Library at 50 Lovell Avenue was entered over the weekend by a burglar who took $121 in cash but left behind about $6 in dimes, nickels and pennies.

Librarian Dorothy Thomas said today that her assistant, Mrs. Ina Sloan, discovered the money was missing yesterday morning when she arrived for work.

The money was taken from a locked file drawer in the main library room. Though 50-cent pieces and quarters were taken from one cash box, Mrs. Thomas said, the thief left behind dimes, nickels and pennies amounting to $5.87 and $12.50 in checks.

Mrs. Thomas said entry apparently was made by the front door. She said several keys were missing from the wall in the office, of which one was to the front door. All of the windows behind the stacks were unlocked and one was open. The theft occurred between 9 p.m. Saturday and 9 a.m. yesterday, she said.

Mill Valley Council Due Finance Aide Decision

An oral examination for Mill Valley city finance director was called off last night by the three-man selection board because only one applicant remained for the job, City Manager A. E. Almcrants said today.

Almcrants said he did not know what action to take and will put the matter to the city council April 5.

The post has been open since John Hoopingarner, the city's fiscal director, resigned March 1 saying he would not take a written examination to qualify for the job under the new title.

The one applicant, whom Almcrants has not identified, was informed not to appear last night for the scheduled exam.

In Fleet Exercise

Robert F. Walker II, Navy seaman apprentice, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Walker of 143 Spring Grove Avenue, San Rafael, is serving aboard the attack cargo ship Merrick operating out of Long Beach, and will take part in a large Pacific Fleet exercise this spring.

$641,000 Budget Eyed For Kentfield Schools

A tentative 1960-61 budget of $641,000 was given the Kentfield School District board last night.

District income was estimated by Supt. Harold R. De Pue at $696,980. The figure, according to De Pue, includes 25 cents of a proposed tax increase of 50 cents per $100 assessed valuation which will come before district voters on April 18. It also includes estimates of income from a 15 per cent increase in assessed valuation for the district as well as funds anticipated from the state. It does not include an estimated balance of $26,000.

Because of "variables" in income, including federal aid, teachers' salaries for the coming year were not fixed by the board. A decision on salaries will probably be made sometime in May, De Pue said.

The trustees agreed to a proposal to eliminate the positions of acting assistant principals at Greenbrae and Wolfe Grade Schools and to make permanent such a position at Adaline E. Kent School. The position is necessary at the Kent School because of its large enrollment of 670 pupils, the trustees said.

William Hartley, district summer school principal, reported on plans for the forthcoming summer session and estimated possible enrollment of 350 children.

Tentative plans for the Wolfe Grade school addition were approved by the trustees. The plans will be discussed further at an adjourned meeting at 8 p.m. April 3.

Also at the April 3 meeting, the board will hold a closed executive session to discuss tenure for five teachers in the district.

Board Defers Action On Recorder Plan

Four members of the Marin County Board of Supervisors yesterday received with interest a county grand jury recommendation that the recorder's office be kept in the court house until the courts and clerk's office go to the civic center.

But they deferred any sort of action until Supervisor J. Walter Blair could return to duty from current illness, feeling that "a full board" decision should be given.

Chairman William D. Fusselman found that Administrator Alan Bruce had asked department heads to advise their ideas on any change in partition layout at the administration building by Friday and asked that another notification be sent out to remove the impression that this was a deadline.

Bruce explained that architect Aaron Green is studying specifications on partitions and there is an 18-month option on "picking up an alternate" as between making a proportion of the walls fixed, not movable.

For this reason it was desirable to get any new ideas on the detail of partition arrangement, said Bruce, but he indicated the jury had misconstrued in feeling that there was a deadline of broad nature.

Restaurant, Bar In San Rafael Sold To Three

The restaurant and bar known as the Music Box at 1618 Second Street, San Rafael, has been sold, proprietor Leo A. Cramer of 136 Manor Road, Fairfax announced today.

The purchasers are Mrs. Jerry Stevenson, owner and operator of the Marina Club cocktail lounge in San Francisco; M. G. Stevenson, former Las Vegas night spot proprietor, and Mariellen Dickinson. They will not take possession until the liquor license has been transferred in about 30 days, Cramer said. All are San Francisco residents.

Stevenson said he plans to run the bar and Miss Dickinson will manage the food end of the business.

Cramer and his former partner, Walter Smith, acquired the Music Box in December, 1956, and Cramer bought out Smith's equity about a year later. He said he and his wife had purchased some acreage in Napa County and expect to move there when the transaction has been completed.

Blood Center For Marin To Open In April

A permanent blood procurement center for Marin County will open in late April at 508 A Fourth Street, San Rafael.

Plans for the center and a program to secure more blood in Marin were discussed last night by the coordinating committee of the Marin County blood program.

The new center, leased by the Irwin Memorial Blood Bank of the San Francisco Medical Society, will accept blood twice weekly at first, but will be open for appointment and information five days a week.

One hundred donors will be needed each week, Mrs. Bernice Hemphill, director of the Irwin Memorial Blood Bank, said. Miss Claudia Bessing will be in charge of the Marin center.

Mrs. Kenneth Denman of San Rafael is in charge of recruiting volunteers to staff the new center. Four persons will be needed daily.

Local physicians will assist with blood procurement. Donations from Marin civic groups and business firms will support operation of the canteen, Mrs. Paul Spengler, canteen committee head, said.

Thomas Faraday and Mrs. Robert Brammen are co-chairmen for the center. The premises are now being equipped and painted.

Air Reservists Briefed On Attack

Members of the Marin County Air Reserve Squadron of Hamilton Air Force Base recently were briefed on the North American Air Defense Command and its role in protecting the country from an air or missile attack.

Reserve squadron commander, Lt. Col. Robert Krohn of San Rafael, flight instructor Lt. Col. Paul Wata, and Sanford McLaughlin, district plant manager of Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co., in San Rafael, conducted the briefing.

The group saw a film on radar defense. A special telephone hookup was arranged with NORAD headquarters in Colorado Springs. The officer on duty spoke to the squadron about the day's activities at the headquarters.

Windshield Broken

Mrs. Charlotte C. Berkov of 1924 Indian Valley Road, Novato, reported to San Rafael police yesterday that someone broken the windshield of her car while it was parked on Fifth Avenue between A and B Streets. Mrs. Berkov said that it was done before midnight when her son parked the car there. Damage was estimated at $36.

Discourage Your Teen-Agers From Marriage Until They Are Older

The high school marrying season is just ahead. Will your children be bitten by the marrying bug? I hope not.

Every spring in some schools marriage becomes a fad. Usually it starts with one popular couple. They elope; then another, and another. Soon all the kids who go steady are setting wedding dates. I went to a high school graduation last June where half of the senior girls were married. Whew!

What's wrong with early marriage? Many things. Teenagers aren't ready for the job of maintaining a home. The girls aren't mature enough to be good mothers. The boys aren't ready to plug away at a job, month after month. The kids are not old enough to be sure their love will last. There's nothing worse than a teen-age marriage when love is gone. The high divorce rates for early marriages show the risks.

Many schools try to expel kids who marry. But when the expulsions are taken to court the judges usually rule that marired students have a right to an education. So now most schools let them in. However they don't permit them to take part in activities—no football, no clubs, no attendance at school parties. A surprising number of teenagers decide not to get married if it means they'll be barred from the prom.

Is your teen-ager talking of marriage? Discourage him, or her. Explain that you will not give consent. Underage boys and girls cannot be married without their parents' approval. If you don't weaken, you can block them. They'll feel hurt and be awfully mad for awhile. Then they'll recover; eventually they'll thank you. Good luck!

Marin Wants Fair Fund In Chunk, Not Pieces

Marin County's supervisors agreed with their fair advisory committee yesterday that it would be nice to have state money for constructing a grandstand and exhibit building all in one chunk.

They sighed over Sacramento's installment payment habit and authorized Administrator Alan Bruce to ask Sen. John F. McCarthy to arrange a conference with the State Department of Finance in an effort to get a $420,000 all at once sometime or other.

Bruce pointed out that the finance officials have allocated $115,000 for site development work this year and have indicated tentative approval of $105,000 in each of four years following for the construction job. But review by the committee and public works director has developed that it's uneconomical to build a structure in four yearly stages, said Bruce.

"The committee feels strongly," said the letter to McCarthy, "that the total sum of $420,000 should be allocated in a single year or over not more than two years, and combined with the funds now in hand, to allow economical construction of the entire building including site development as a single project.

"It is obvious that the total cost to the state would be considerably less on this basis. The committee believes that the county should forego major allocations in the remaining years of the total period, should this request be granted."

Since the finance department has asked submittal of a revised five year building program by June 1, the committee wants a meeting early next month for exploration of its proposal in lieu of re-submittal of the staged program, Bruce said.

"All must agree it's not right to this in jumps, but the general attitude is to hang onto the money," commented supervisors Chairman William D. Fusselman. He said he doubted that an immediate allocation could be obtained.

Bruce said the committee's idea was to use its proposal as a lever to keep the state from taking any money back.

"You should get the money advanced, or else not do anything till there is enough," said public works director Marvin W. Brigham.

"I agree on the unit idea but better be sure you get it," said Supervisor William Gnoss. "Our experience up north has been that it's best to spend everything year by year or they'll take it away."

Ast. Auditor-Controller Michael Mitchell felt that "the biggest concession likely will be the privilege of carrying over—to increase our allocation would mean cutting somebody else."

Library Loses $121 In Cash To Burglar

The Mill Valley Public Library at 50 Lovell Avenue was entered over the weekend by a burglar who took $121 in cash but left behind about $6 in dimes, nickels and pennies.

Librarian Dorothy Thomas said today that her assistant, Mrs. Ina Sloan, discovered the money was missing yesterday morning when she arrived for work.

The money was taken from a locked file drawer in the main library room. Though 50-cent pieces and quarters were taken from one cash box, Mrs. Thomas said, the thief left behind dimes, nickels and pennies amounting to $5.87 and $12.50 in checks.

Mrs. Thomas said entry apparently was made by the front door. She said several keys were missing from the wall in the office, of which one was to the front door. All of the windows behind the stacks were unlocked and one was open. The theft occurred between 9 p.m. Saturday and 9 a.m. yesterday, she said.

Mill Valley Council Due Finance Aide Decision

An oral examination for Mill Valley city finance director was called off last night by the three-man selection board because only one applicant remained for the job, City Manager A. E. Almcrants said today.

Almcrants said he did not know what action to take and will put the matter to the city council April 5.

The post has been open since John Hoopingarner, the city's fiscal director, resigned March 1 saying he would not take a written examination to qualify for the job under the new title.

The one applicant, whom Almcrants has not identified, was informed not to appear last night for the scheduled exam.

Robert F. Walker II, Navy seaman apprentice, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Walker of 143 Spring Grove Avenue, San Rafael, is serving aboard the attack cargo ship Merrick operating out of Long Beach, and will take part in a large Pacific Fleet exercise this spring.

$641,000 Budget Eyed For Kentfield Schools

A tentative 1960-61 budget of $641,000 was given the Kentfield School District board last night.

District income was estimated by Supt. Harold R. De Pue at $696,980. The figure, according to De Pue, includes 25 cents of a proposed tax increase of 50 cents per $100 assessed valuation which will come before district voters on April 18. It also includes estimates of income from a 15 per cent increase in assessed valuation for the district as well as funds anticipated from the state. It does not include an estimated balance of $26,000.

Because of "variables" in income, including federal aid, teachers' salaries for the coming year were not fixed by the board. A decision on salaries will probably be made sometime in May, De Pue said.

The trustees agreed to a proposal to eliminate the positions of acting assistant principals at Greenbrae and Wolfe Grade Schools and to make permanent such a position at Adaline E. Kent School. The position is necessary at the Kent School because of its large enrollment of 670 pupils, the trustees said.

William Hartley, district summer school principal, reported on plans for the forthcoming summer session and estimated possible enrollment of 350 children.

Tentative plans for the Wolfe Grade school addition were approved by the trustees. The plans will be discussed further at an adjourned meeting at 8 p.m. April 3.

Also at the April 3 meeting, the board will hold a closed executive session to discuss tenure for five teachers in the district.

Board Defers Action On Recorder Plan

Four members of the Marin County Board of Supervisors yesterday received with interest a county grand jury recommendation that the recorder's office be kept in the court house until the courts and clerk's office go to the civic center.

But they deferred any sort of action until Supervisor J. Walter Blair could return to duty from current illness, feeling that "a full board" decision should be given.

Chairman William D. Fusselman found that Administrator Alan Bruce had asked department heads to advise their ideas on any change in partition layout at the administration building by Friday and asked that another notification be sent out to remove the impression that this was a deadline.

Bruce explained that architect Aaron Green is studying specifications on partitions and there is an 18-month option on "picking up an alternate" as between making a proportion of the walls fixed, not movable.

For this reason it was desirable to get any new ideas on the detail of partition arrangement, said Bruce, but he indicated the jury had misconstrued in feeling that there was a deadline of broad nature.

Mrs. Charlotte C. Berkov of 1924 Indian Valley Road, Novato, reported to San Rafael police yesterday that someone broken the windshield of her car while it was parked on Fifth Avenue between A and B Streets. Mrs. Berkov said that it was done before midnight when her son parked the car there. Damage was estimated at $36.

Restaurant, Bar In San Rafael Sold To Three

The restaurant and bar known as the Music Box at 1618 Second Street, San Rafael, has been sold, proprietor Leo A. Cramer of 136 Manor Road, Fairfax announced today.

The purchasers are Mrs. Jerry Stevenson, owner and operator of the Marina Club cocktail lounge in San Francisco; M. G. Stevenson, former Las Vegas night spot proprietor, and Mariellen Dickinson. They will not take possession until the liquor license has been transferred in about 30 days, Cramer said. All are San Francisco residents.

Stevenson said he plans to run the bar and Miss Dickinson will manage the food end of the business.

Cramer and his former partner, Walter Smith, acquired the Music Box in December, 1956, and Cramer bought out Smith's equity about a year later. He said he and his wife had purchased some acreage in Napa County and expect to move there when the transaction has been completed.

Blood Center For Marin To Open In April

A permanent blood procurement center for Marin County will open in late April at 508 A Fourth Street, San Rafael.

Plans for the center and a program to secure more blood in Marin were discussed last night by the coordinating committee of the Marin County blood program.

The new center, leased by the Irwin Memorial Blood Bank of the San Francisco Medical Society, will accept blood twice weekly at first, but will be open for appointment and information five days a week.

One hundred donors will be needed each week, Mrs. Bernice Hemphill, director of the Irwin Memorial Blood Bank, said. Miss Claudia Bessing will be in charge of the Marin center.

Mrs. Kenneth Denman of San Rafael is in charge of recruiting volunteers to staff the new center. Four persons will be needed daily.

Local physicians will assist with blood procurement. Donations from Marin civic groups and business firms will support operation of the canteen, Mrs. Paul Spengler, canteen committee head, said.

Thomas Faraday and Mrs. Robert Brammen are co-chairmen for the center. The premises are now being equipped and painted.

Air Reservists Briefed On Attack

Members of the Marin County Air Reserve Squadron of Hamilton Air Force Base recently were briefed on the North American Air Defense Command and its role in protecting the country from an air or missile attack.

Reserve squadron commander, Lt. Col. Robert Krohn of San Rafael, flight instructor Lt. Col. Paul Wata, and Sanford McLaughlin, district plant manager of Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co., in San Rafael, conducted the briefing.

The group saw a film on radar defense. A special telephone hookup was arranged with NORAD headquarters in Colorado Springs. The officer on duty spoke to the squadron about the day's activities at the headquarters.

Five Mill Valleyans Seek School Posts

(This is the fifth in a series of stories introducing candidates for school boards in elections to be held April 18.)

A single incumbent is among five candidates for three positions on the Mill Valley Elementary School District board in the April 18 election.

Also at issue in the election is permission for the district to bond itself for a half million dollars to expand school plants.

Only incumbent seeking reelection for a four-year term is Edward A. Kemp. Others in the race are Dr. William L. Clark, Mrs. Joyce R. Gross, Edward B. Hayden and Don Jones.

Here is a rundown on the candidates:

EDWARD A. KEMP, 58, incumbent clerk of the board, is plant engineer at California Perforating Screen Co. in San Francisco, a job he has held for 28 years. He and his wife, Marguerite, reside at 66 Sycamore Avenue. A son, Edward A. Jr., is with the Army Signal Corps stationed at Stuttgart, Germany.

Kemp has resided in Mill Valley since 1929. He has been active in Boy Scout and Cub Scout work, serving as district commissioner among other Scout offices. He helped found the Mill Valley Taxpayers Assn. and is its president. He is also a director of the Marin County Taxpayers Assn. His mother and three of her sisters were teachers.

Kemp was born in Suisun and was graduated from Armijo High School in Fairfield. He studied mechanical engineering at University of California.

Says Kemp: "I believe a school trustee has a dual responsibility: To see that our children get the best education we, the taxpayers, can afford, and the taxpayers get the most for their dollars in basic elementary education. If the electorate decides my qualifications justify their support and my candidacy is successful, I will do my best to carry out this belief."

WILLIAM L. CLARK, 40, is an orthopedic surgeon with his office in San Rafael. He and his wife, Elizabeth, and daughter and two sons reside at 38 South Knoll Road.

Dr. Clark is president of the South Knoll Road Property Owners Assn. and a member of the Alto Volunteer Fire Department. He is a major in the National Guard and served in World War II in Iceland and with the Army in Germany in 1950-52.

He was born in Fort Benton, Mont., went to high school in Fresno, received his A.B. degree from Dartmouth College and his M.D. from University of Rochester.

Dr. Clark has come out in favor of the proposed bond issue.

"I believe that our present school board has done an excellent job with limited funds," he says. "However, they need more support from an informed and interested public."

He proposes to expand the curriculum while re-emphasizing the "three R's"; raise teacher salaries, "at present near the bottom for the Bay Area"; start planning for future plant expansion beyond that which the proposed bond issue would cover, and give study to unification. "I think a unified district to include Mill Valley, the Tiburon Peninsula and Sausalito would be desirable," he says.

JOYCE R. GROSS, 36, lives at 1 Roosevelt Avenue with her husband, Edmond, and two daughters and son. She formerly was in the advertising department and history room of Wells Fargo Bank in San Francisco.

Active in the Parent-Teacher Assn., Mrs. Gross is now president of the Mill Valley Parent-Teacher Council. She was a member of the Tamalpais High School District Citizen Advisory Committee last year and of the same district's bond issue steering committee the previous year, and serves on the Mill Valley School District's committee of 40. She is also active in the League of Women Voters.

She was born in Alameda and is a graduate of University of California.

Calling for "an education that will enable . . . children to find a way to a peaceful world and to live a full and productive life," Mrs. Gross says: "An America of technicians and specialists is not enough. There must be training in the arts and humanities, in public affairs, and in the science of teaching itself."

EDWARD B. HAYDEN, 32, of 326 Robin Road is Marin-Sonoma district manager of the National Automobile Club. He and his wife, Nancy, have one son and one daughter.

Hayden is a member of the Tamalpais Valley Improvement Club and Tamalpais Valley Volunteer Fire Department. He also belongs to the Guardsmen in San Francisco.

Although born in San Francisco, he says "I consider myself a native of both Marin and San Francisco, having spent all summers in the county since the age of two months." He has been a permanent resident of Tamalpais Valley since October, 1959.

Hayden holds an A.B. degree from San Jose State College and also attended University of California. He served as a Marine Corps sergeant in the United States during the Korean War.

Hayden has endorsed the proposed bond issue.

DON JONES, 43, of 319 Edgewood Avenue, is himself a teacher — at Pelton Junior High School in San Francisco, where he teaches social studies. "There is no chance of my becoming my own boss," he has said, "because I would have to take too big a salary cut to teach in Mill Valley."

Jones and his wife, Helen, have a daughter Linda, 8, and son Douglas, 5. They have been Mill Valley residents four years.

Jones has A.B. and M.A. degrees from San Francisco State College. He served in the Navy during World War II.

The teacher candidate has expressed interest in "unification, adequate classrooms and the maximum quality of teaching." He adds: "Other vital considerations are the economics of the public schools, building costs, seeing that the taxpayer gets his money's worth, and maintaining high academic standards."

He has endorsed the bond issue and higher pay for teachers.

Calling for "an education that will enable . . . children to find a way to a peaceful world and to live a full and productive life," Mrs. Gross says: "An America of technicians and specialists is not enough. DON JONES, 43, of 319 Edgewood Avenue, is himself a teacher — at Pelton Junior High School in San Francisco, where he teaches social studies. "There is no chance of my becoming my own boss," he has said, "because I would have to take too big a salary cut to teach in Mill Valley."

Jones and his wife, Helen, have a daughter Linda, 8, and son Douglas, 5. They have been Mill Valley residents four years.

Jones has A.B. and M.A. degrees from San Francisco State College. He served in the Navy during World War II.

The teacher candidate has expressed interest in "unification, adequate classrooms and the maximum quality of teaching." He adds: "Other vital considerations are the economics of the public schools, building costs, seeing that the taxpayer gets his money's worth, and maintaining high academic standards."

He has endorsed the bond issue and higher pay for teachers.

McCovey Grateful To Dark For Confidence Displayed By Dark

HANLEY

PHOENIX, Ariz. — Willie McCovey will always be grateful to Alvin Dark for the patience and confidence the new rookie manager of the Giants displayed with him this spring as he was recapturing the flashy form that won him 1959 rookie of the year honors.

"It means a lot to know someone, especially your manager, has confidence in you," said McCovey, in whom little confidence was placed last season because the big fellow did little to earn it.

"And I also have confidence in myself," he added, "a kind of good feeling that I didn't have last spring."

McCovey's attitude a year ago was now-I-got-it-made cockiness that seemed particularly obnoxious because of the naive wholesomeness which marked his '59 debut when he hit .354 including 13 homers, five triples, nine doubles and 38 RBIs in 52 games.

To his everlasting credit McCovey blamed nobody but himself for his sophomore slump accepted a salary slash from the $14,000 he had been receiving and said with a manliness born out of humility:

"I EXPECTED the pay cut. I deserved it. I wasn't overcoached, I was overweight last year."

Then he rigidly adhered to a winter training schedule of two-hour daily workouts on the YMCA basketball court in San Francisco's Fillmore district. By the time he reported for spring training—a week in advance of the general contingent—he weighed 202, 25 pounds lighter than he was the previous year when he didn't skip a banquet table.

McCovey is lucky he has a boss like Dark who doesn't make his decisions on knotty problems until he personally collects the facts. Dark is a fellow who likes to see for himself. He will listen and welcomes reports—and he got plenty of them about how McCovey butchered first base last year so that nobody could play it. Dark reserved judgment, made no comment other than to state that he had seen McCovey hit and predicted that would hit again.

MEANWHILE, DARK put Whitey Lockman, his first base coach, to work with McCovey. The Giant first sacker of several years ago soon had McCovey stretching in all directions from the bag, digging the ball out of the dirt and challenging fouls along the first base line the way he should have gone after them last season.

And Dark personally counseled McCovey to close his stance at the plate a trifle, shorten his back swing a smidge, and start hitting for singles into left and into left center.

"The homers will come later," Dark assured McCovey, "but the important thing is to get the bat on the ball and that priceless timing back."

A BIG SMILE began spreading across McCovey's face as he started getting base hits in left and left center, precisely where Dark said he would. Then a week ago in Palm Springs Dark gave McCovey the go-ahead on a 3-0 count and Willie buggywhipped the ball out of the park—one of those rocketing liners he used to hit in '59.

There's no balm more soothing to a batter's ego than such an expression of confidence from his manager with the count three balls and no strikes.

Death Takes President Of Cincinnati Club

Powel Crosley Jr. Succumbs To Heart Attack Early Today

CINCINNATI, Ohio (UPI) — Powel Crosley Jr., president of the Cincinnati Reds baseball club and a pioneer in the radio and small car fields, died early today of a heart attack at his suburban estate.

Crosley, 74, who had been hospitalized recently for a heart condition and a complete physical checkup, died at 6:15 a.m.

Crosley became president of the National League club in 1934 and two years later purchased controlling interest in the team.

COMPACT CARS

But in the business field, he was widely known as the developer of the Crosley automobile, one of the first "compact" cars in the United States, and president of the Crosley Corp., manufacturer of electric appliances, including radios.

In addition to the Reds, one of Crosley's great loves was station WLW, one of the country's most powerful radio stations. He built the station from income gained in manufacturing radios.

His stations became so profitable they set him on the trail of his first million dollars and permitted him to branch out into refrigerators and other electrical appliances.

Crosley often said, "I was born with a silver spoon in my mouth, but it was jerked out before I could distinguish its taste from that of the common dime-store variety."

MAN OF 50 JOBS

He once wrote a magazine article in which he described himself as "a man of 50 jobs."

He built an auto of his own when he was 12 and was a telephone repairman, chauffeur, auto salesman, advertising and publicity man, radio manufacturer and station owner during his long and varied career.

But in recent years, Crosley's business interests became fewer and he turned more to the leisurely life.

He yachted off Florida in the winter, fished in the Georgian bay in the summer and raised fine cattle in between his own island off the cost of Georgia.

Cards Dismayed As Freak Injury Suffered By Ace Pitcher Jackson

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

There was a subdued atmosphere at the St. Louis baseball camp today as huddled groups quietly discussed the freak accident that sent Cardinal right-hander Larry Jackson to the hospital with a fractured jaw.

The durable 29-year-old hurler, who led the National League in innings pitched while compiling an 18-13 record for the Cards last year, was struck by a bat fragment during yesterday's 11-2 exhibition loss to the os Angeles Dodgers.

Duke Snider was batting in the sixth inning when the most serious accident of the exhibition season stunned the Cards. Snider, who had previously tagged Jackson for a homer and double, rapped one back to the box as the bat splintered.

One of the fragments hit Jackson in the face while he was fielding the grounder. He was rushed to a hospital where X-rays revealed the fracture. He will be lost to the club for an indefinite period.

Elsewhere, fine pitching performances were turned in by Milwaukee's Lew Burdette and Warren Spahn as they combined to five-hit the Chicago White Sox 1-0, and Chicago Cubs southpaw Dick Ellsworth, who went the distance in a 7-4 triumph over San Francisco.

In other games, Minnesota outslugged Baltimore 12-9, Cincinnati belted Detroit 11-9, the Los Angeles Angels defeated Cleveland 9-7, the Tigers' B team edged Washington 6-5 in 10 innings and Kansas City beat New York 5-2 in 10 innings.

Snider drove in five runs against the Cards as the Dodgers laced Jackson and reliever Lindy McDaniel for 14 hits en route to their seventh straight win. Don Drysdale was effective for Los Angeles, allowing seven hits and two unearned runs in a seven-inning stint.

Spahn drove in the game's only run against the White Sox with a single in the seventh after a walk to Felix Mantilla and Roy McMillan's sacrifice. The winning blow came off Bob Shaw after Herb Score had checked the Braves on three hits for six innings.

Two errors gave the Cubs four unearned runs, including two of the winning tallies in a three-run seventh inning rally against the Giants. That was enough for Ellskorth, who gave up 12 hits as he joined teammate Jack Curtis as a nine-inning performer.

Joe Valdivielso collected four RBIs with a homer and double, while pitcher Tom McAvoy and Dan Dobbek also contributed homers to the Tins' 13-hit attack against the Orioles. Marv Breeding, Jerry Adair and Dave Philley connected for Baltimore.

Vada Pinson's two-run homer in the eighth clinched it for the Reds, who shelled Tiger pitching for 14 hits. Home runs by Bob Cerv, Steve Bilko and Del Rice powered the Angels to their win over the Indians, who got circuit shots from Tito Francona and Don Dillard.

The Tigers B squad won it in the 10th when pitcher Gordon Seyfried worked the Senators' Dick Sisler for a walk with the bases loaded. Norm Siebern's base-leading single gave the A's thec lincher against the Yankees in their extra-inning contest.

Indiana's Bellamy Grabbed First In Pro Hoop Draft

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — The field of senior college talent—chiefly in super-tall players—was supposed to be leanest in years at the annual National Basketball Assn. draft, but most coaches and owners came away smiling.

Indiana's 6-foot-11 Olympic player, Walt Bellamy, was the No. 1 choice, and St. Bonaventure's 6-foot-5 Tom Stith, a tremendous offensive player, was the second choice, as expected.

Then the NBA owners started reaching into the services, the amateur ranks and the Eastern League, for some talented players who won't be under the pressure of their press clippings when they try to crack the NBA next season. Only 12 rookies made it this season.

It was obvious these "sleeper" picks were bringing the smiles yesterday. Chicago, the NBA's ninth and newest club, chose Bellamy and was given the first five choices plus the last one in the second round. Coach Jim Pollard seemed pleased over his picks—four of them 6-6 or over.

The downtrodden New York Knickerbockers, with the worst won-lost record in the NBA, picked Stith, tagged "the closest to Elgin Baylor I've seen" by Knicks president Ned Irish.

But the Knicks first five choices included not one man over 5-foot-5, despite Irish's earlier statements that his club needed a giant in the worst way. Irish once threatened to pull the Knicks out of the NBA unless given a chance at Bellamy.

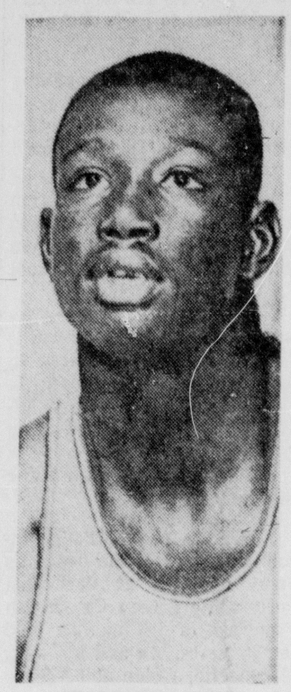

Some friction seems certain to develop between the NBA and the new American Basketball League, although NBA president Maurice Podoloff insists owners in both leagues have assured him there won't be.

Syracuse was happy with its first four picks—all little—publicized players in the 6-6 to 6-7 category and headed by Ben Wharley, ex-Tennessee A&I, who played last season with Cleveland in the amateur National Basketball League.

But Cleveland picked the same day as the NBA draft to turn professional and move into the new ABL. This might knock out the Nats No. 1 choice. Bellamy has been drafted by the Chicago entry in the ABL.

Cincinnati, drafting third after Chicago and New York, picked Larry Siegfried, 6-4 of Ohio State. This opened the way for Detroit to draft Ray Scott, 6-9 and 235, veteran of three seasons in the pro Eastern League with Allentown, Pa., after one year at Portland.

St. Louis surprised with 6-1 Cleo Hill, a 26-point scorer from Winston-Salem, N.C. College, as its top choice, with Ron Horn, a 6-7 all-Army player who was a freshman at Indiana with Bellamy, the No. 2 pick. NBA champion Boston went for backline help, taking 6-3 Gary Phillips of Houston and 6-2 Al Butler of Niagara. Philadelphia's top pick was rugged 6-7 Tom Meschery of St. Mary's. Los Angeles chose Wayne Yates, 6-8 of Memphis State as No. 1.

Lakers Take 3-2 Lead Over Hawks

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The fiery Los Angeles Lakers—thanks to uncanny Elgin Baylor—have the St. Louis Hawks down 3-2 in the Western finals for the second straight year, but they vow "we won't let 'em up this time."

The Lakers—to a man—remembered they lost the series after taking a 3-2 lead by winning the fifth game at St. Louis 120-113 last season. They made it clear they were determined to take it all this time, after winning the fifth game last night 121-112.

"We're going to win it in six this time," said Baylor, whose 47 points and great all-around game killed the Hawks.

The Hawks won the sixth game on the Laker court last year by 21 points, then clinched the Western playoff title of the National Basketball Assn. in the seventh game at home.

St. Louis will be without 6-foot-9 Clyde Lovellette, a great outside shooter who's had a tough series, but is always a big threat, in tomorrow night's game. Big Clyde suffered a twisted lower spine and may have a slipped disc. He is out for the season.

BERKELEY (UPI)—The California-Notre Dame baseball game, postponed yesterday for the second straight day because of rain, has been re-scheduled for tomorrow.

Sailors Prepare For Coming Race Season

By AL MATSON

Not to be outdone by the spring training calesthenics of the Giants, Dodgers, et al, the local fraternity of small boat sailors have been engaging in some strenuous pre-season tune up races for the past several weeks.

Just last Sunday, despite blustery winds and intermittent drizzles, several of the classes were out in force to sharpen their reflexes and prepare for the seasonal battles, now looming on the horizon.

The Small Boat Racing Assn.'s racing program gets under way with a two-day regatta April 14-15 on Lake Merced with division three classes battling it out on Saturday and divisions 1 and 2 highlighting the races Sunday.

Due to the ever-increasing number of classes and entries and attendant headaches for the race committees, the fleet was broken down into four segments, divisions 1, 2, 3 and 4, permitting split regattas on two-day schedules.

Division 1 comprises El Toro and Melody; Division 2, Penguin, Coast 13, Blue Jay, Lido 14 and Sabot; division 3, Finn, Snipe, Thistle and National One design; division 4, Zephyr, 110, Mercury and Clipper. The new O'Day Sailor has also been admitted as a class and, presumably, will race in division 3.

The 1961 racing program: April 15, div. 3, April 16, div. 1-2, at Lake Merced. April 30, all divisions Lake Folsom; May 13, Div. 1-2, May 14, div. 3-4 at Lake Merritt; May 20, Div. 3-4, May 21, div. 1-2, Richmond; June 18, all divisions, Clear Lake; July 9, div. 1-2-3, Redwood City; July 9, div. 4, Sausalito; July 30, div. 3, Alameda; Aug. 6, div. 4, Tiburon; Aug. 20, div. 2-3, Inverness; Sept. 10, all divisions, Monterey; Sept. 17, div. 4, Alameda; Sept. 23, div. 1-2, Sept. 24, div. 3-4, Palo Alto; Oct. 1, div. 1, Alameda; Oct. 8, Div. 2, Alameda.

The growing pains evidenced above is also reflected in the big boat fleet registered in the yacht racing assn. Whereas, heretofore, yachts qualifying under CCA ratings raced in three subdivisions, the entry list has increased to the point that it was deemed best to add a fourth segment.

The new classifications: Class A, rating 37.0 and higher; Class B, rating 27-36.9; Class C, rating 22-26.9; Class D, rating 21.9 and under.

Top Senior Stars Square Off Tonight

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Some of the finest seniors in college basketball will play tonight in the 10th Shrine East-West game.

The West squad, coached by Sharm Scheuerman of Iowa, has three men who are 6-foot-7 or taller, while Coach Eddie Donovan of St. Bonaventure has only one man of that height on the East squad.

"Since we are smaller, we'll have to be faster," Donovan said.

The East will have only nine men. John Egan of Providence was injured in the NIT championship game last Saturday and couldn't make the trip.

Scheuerman plans to start Gary Phillips of Houston, Tom Meschery of St. Mary's, Walt Bellamy of Indiana, Bill Bridges of Kansas and Ced Price of Kansas State.

As East starters, Donovan named Tom Stith of St. Bonaventure, Bob Wiesenhahn of Cincinnati, Doug Moe of North Carolina, Larry Siegfried of Ohio State, and either York Larese of North Carolina or Tony Jackson of St. John's.

McCovey's Bat Booms At .460 Clip In Cactus Loop

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—One of the most reassuring sounds to San Francisco Giant fans so far this spring has been the crack of Willie McCovey's bat.

The big first baseman, sent to the minors in disgrace last year when his batting average slumped, is hitting .460 in the Cactus League.

McCovey, National League Rookie of the Year in 1959, was a big question mark when the Giants started spring training.

Manager Alvin Dark made it plain Willie could have the first baseman's job if he could again find the range at the plate.

McCovey has connected some 20 times. Only three of these were home runs, but mixed in with solid singles have been a number of doubles and triples.

Sunday he went three for three, and in yesterday's 7-4 losing effort to the Chicago Cubs, McCovey hit three for four—one a sizzling double.

The Giants yesterday out-hit Chicago 12-11. But bloopers in defense cost this one.

Don Blasingame threw away a potential double play and allowed two unearned runs to score in the fifth. Eddie Bressoud did the same thing in the seventh for two more Chicago tallies.

Starting pitcher Stu Miller allowed Chicago six hits in six innings. Billy O'Dell, who replaced Miller in the seventh, was tagged for the other five hits before he was replaced in the eighth.

Barefooted Star In Cow Palace Wrestling Event

Argentina Rocca, the barefoot grappler with the somersault style, tops a six-bout wrestling card Thursday night at the San Francisco Cow Palace.

Rocca joins Cowboy Bob Ellis in a tag team match against Mitsu Arakawa and Eric Von Krupp.

Second half of the twin main event features Ray Stevens against Bill Melby.

Pat O'Connor, recognized as world's champion by the North American Wrestling Alliance, meets Ernie Dusek in a special one fall match.

Two errors gave the Cubs four unearned runs, including two of the winning tallies in a three-run seventh inning rally against the Giants. That was enough for Ellskorth, who gave up 12 hits as he joined teammate Jack Curtis as a nine-inning performer.

Joe Valdivielso collected four RBIs with a homer and double, while pitcher Tom McAvoy and Dan Dobbek also contributed homers to the Tins' 13-hit attack against the Orioles. Marv Breeding, Jerry Adair and Dave Philley connected for Baltimore.

Vada Pinson's two-run homer in the eighth clinched it for the Reds, who shelled Tiger pitching for 14 hits. Home runs by Bob Cerv, Steve Bilko and Del Rice powered the Angels to their win over the Indians, who got circuit shots from Tito Francona and Don Dillard.

The Tigers B squad won it in the 10th when pitcher Gordon Seyfried worked the Senators' Dick Sisler for a walk with the bases loaded. Norm Siebern's base-leading single gave the A's thec lincher against the Yankees in their extra-inning contest.

Indiana's Bellamy Grabbed First In Pro Hoop Draft

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — The field of senior college talent—chiefly in super-tall players—was supposed to be leanest in years at the annual National Basketball Assn. draft, but most coaches and owners came away smiling.

Indiana's 6-foot-11 Olympic player, Walt Bellamy, was the No. 1 choice, and St. Bonaventure's 6-foot-5 Tom Stith, a tremendous offensive player, was the second choice, as expected.

Then the NBA owners started reaching into the services, the amateur ranks and the Eastern League, for some talented players who won't be under the pressure of their press clippings when they try to crack the NBA next season. Only 12 rookies made it this season.

It was obvious these "sleeper" picks were bringing the smiles yesterday. Chicago, the NBA's ninth and newest club, chose Bellamy and was given the first five choices plus the last one in the second round. Coach Jim Pollard seemed pleased over his picks—four of them 6-6 or over.

The downtrodden New York Knickerbockers, with the worst won-lost record in the NBA, picked Stith, tagged "the closest to Elgin Baylor I've seen" by Knicks president Ned Irish.

But the Knicks first five choices included not one man over 5-foot-5, despite Irish's earlier statements that his club needed a giant in the worst way. Irish once threatened to pull the Knicks out of the NBA unless given a chance at Bellamy.

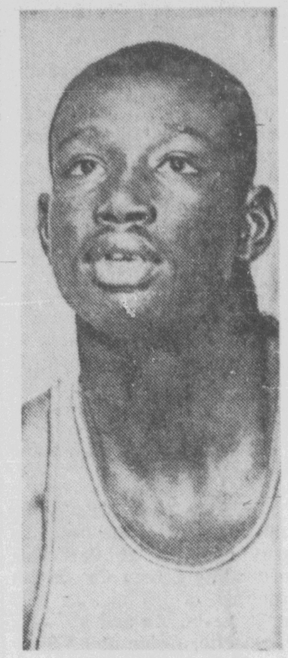

Some friction seems certain to develop between the NBA and the new American Basketball League, although NBA president Maurice Podoloff insists owners in both leagues have assured him there won't be.

Syracuse was happy with its first four picks—all little—publicized players in the 6-6 to 6-7 category and headed by Ben Wharley, ex-Tennessee A&I, who played last season with Cleveland in the amateur National Basketball League.

But Cleveland picked the same day as the NBA draft to turn professional and move into the new ABL. This might knock out the Nats No. 1 choice. Bellamy has been drafted by the Chicago entry in the ABL.

Cincinnati, drafting third after Chicago and New York, picked Larry Siegfried, 6-4 of Ohio State. This opened the way for Detroit to draft Ray Scott, 6-9 and 235, veteran of three seasons in the pro Eastern League with Allentown, Pa., after one year at Portland.

St. Louis surprised with 6-1 Cleo Hill, a 26-point scorer from Winston-Salem, N.C. College, as its top choice, with Ron Horn, a 6-7 all-Army player who was a freshman at Indiana with Bellamy, the No. 2 pick. NBA champion Boston went for backline help, taking 6-3 Gary Phillips of Houston and 6-2 Al Butler of Niagara. Philadelphia's top pick was rugged 6-7 Tom Meschery of St. Mary's. Los Angeles chose Wayne Yates, 6-8 of Memphis State as No. 1.

Lakers Take 3-2 Lead Over Hawks

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The fiery Los Angeles Lakers—thanks to uncanny Elgin Baylor—have the St. Louis Hawks down 3-2 in the Western finals for the second straight year, but they vow "we won't let 'em up this time."

The Lakers—to a man—remembered they lost the series after taking a 3-2 lead by winning the fifth game at St. Louis 120-113 last season. They made it clear they were determined to take it all this time, after winning the fifth game last night 121-112.

"We're going to win it in six this time," said Baylor, whose 47 points and great all-around game killed the Hawks.

The Hawks won the sixth game on the Laker court last year by 21 points, then clinched the Western playoff title of the National Basketball Assn. in the seventh game at home.

St. Louis will be without 6-foot-9 Clyde Lovellette, a great outside shooter who's had a tough series, but is always a big threat, in tomorrow night's game. Big Clyde suffered a twisted lower spine and may have a slipped disc. He is out for the season.

Game Postponed

Sailors Prepare For Coming Race Season

By AL MATSON

Not to be outdone by the spring training calesthenics of the Giants, Dodgers, et al, the local fraternity of small boat sailors have been engaging in some strenuous pre-season tune up races for the past several weeks.

Just last Sunday, despite blustery winds and intermittent drizzles, several of the classes were out in force to sharpen their reflexes and prepare for the seasonal battles, now looming on the horizon.

The Small Boat Racing Assn.'s racing program gets under way with a two-day regatta April 14-15 on Lake Merced with division three classes battling it out on Saturday and divisions 1 and 2 highlighting the races Sunday.

Due to the ever-increasing number of classes and entries and attendant headaches for the race committees, the fleet was broken down into four segments, divisions 1, 2, 3 and 4, permitting split regattas on two-day schedules.

Division 1 comprises El Toro and Melody; Division 2, Penguin, Coast 13, Blue Jay, Lido 14 and Sabot; division 3, Finn, Snipe, Thistle and National One design; division 4, Zephyr, 110, Mercury and Clipper. The new O'Day Sailor has also been admitted as a class and, presumably, will race in division 3.

The 1961 racing program: April 15, div. 3, April 16, div. 1-2, at Lake Merced. April 30, all divisions Lake Folsom; May 13, Div. 1-2, May 14, div. 3-4 at Lake Merritt; May 20, Div. 3-4, May 21, div. 1-2, Richmond; June 18, all divisions, Clear Lake; July 9, div. 1-2-3, Redwood City; July 9, div. 4, Sausalito; July 30, div. 3, Alameda; Aug. 6, div. 4, Tiburon; Aug. 20, div. 2-3, Inverness; Sept. 10, all divisions, Monterey; Sept. 17, div. 4, Alameda; Sept. 23, div. 1-2, Sept. 24, div. 3-4, Palo Alto; Oct. 1, div. 1, Alameda; Oct. 8, Div. 2, Alameda.

The growing pains evidenced above is also reflected in the big boat fleet registered in the yacht racing assn. Whereas, heretofore, yachts qualifying under CCA ratings raced in three subdivisions, the entry list has increased to the point that it was deemed best to add a fourth segment.

The new classifications: Class A, rating 37.0 and higher; Class B, rating 27-36.9; Class C, rating 22-26.9; Class D, rating 21.9 and under.

McCovey's Bat Booms At .460 Clip In Cactus Loop

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—One of the most reassuring sounds to San Francisco Giant fans so far this spring has been the crack of Willie McCovey's bat.

The big first baseman, sent to the minors in disgrace last year when his batting average slumped, is hitting .460 in the Cactus League.

McCovey, National League Rookie of the Year in 1959, was a big question mark when the Giants started spring training.

Manager Alvin Dark made it plain Willie could have the first baseman's job if he could again find the range at the plate.

McCovey has connected some 20 times. Only three of these were home runs, but mixed in with solid singles have been a number of doubles and triples.

Sunday he went three for three, and in yesterday's 7-4 losing effort to the Chicago Cubs, McCovey hit three for four—one a sizzling double.

The Giants yesterday out-hit Chicago 12-11. But bloopers in defense cost this one.

Don Blasingame threw away a potential double play and allowed two unearned runs to score in the fifth. Eddie Bressoud did the same thing in the seventh for two more Chicago tallies.

Starting pitcher Stu Miller allowed Chicago six hits in six innings. Billy O'Dell, who replaced Miller in the seventh, was tagged for the other five hits before he was replaced in the eighth.

Top Senior Stars Square Off Tonight

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Some of the finest seniors in college basketball will play tonight in the 10th Shrine East-West game.

The West squad, coached by Sharm Scheuerman of Iowa, has three men who are 6-foot-7 or taller, while Coach Eddie Donovan of St. Bonaventure has only one man of that height on the East squad.

"Since we are smaller, we'll have to be faster," Donovan said.

The East will have only nine men. John Egan of Providence was injured in the NIT championship game last Saturday and couldn't make the trip.

Scheuerman plans to start Gary Phillips of Houston, Tom Meschery of St. Mary's, Walt Bellamy of Indiana, Bill Bridges of Kansas and Ced Price of Kansas State.

As East starters, Donovan named Tom Stith of St. Bonaventure, Bob Wiesenhahn of Cincinnati, Doug Moe of North Carolina, Larry Siegfried of Ohio State, and either York Larese of North Carolina or Tony Jackson of St. John's.

Barefooted Star In Cow Palace Wrestling Event

Rocca joins Cowboy Bob Ellis in a tag team match against Mitsu Arakawa and Eric Von Krupp.

Second half of the twin main event features Ray Stevens against Bill Melby.

Planning A Hunting Vacation? Proposed 1961 Seasons Listed

STEVENS

The deer season in California doesn't open for about five months yet, but I have had several calls asking when it does open. As one caller explained: "Four of us here at the plant want to go together this year. We have to pick our vacation time very soon, so you see why we want that information."

Okay. For that quartet and others who may be wishing the dope in order to arrange their annual vacation, here's the latest from the Department of Fish and Game.

It is proposed that the deer seasons in 1961 be from Aug. 5 through Sept. 24 for the early season and Sept. 23 through Nov. 5 for the late, or "inland" season. The areas set forth in last year's regulations would remain the same this year.

SPECIAL ARCHERY season: DEER AND BEAR — July 22 through July 31 for the early season. Sept. 9 through Sept. 18 for the late season. (Archers may also hunt during the regular season.)

In case you prefer taking your vacation during the pheasant season, the recommendation is the same as last year, except for a calendar adjustment to make the opening day fall on a Saturday — Nov. 18 through Dec. 3. It is also recommended that the long Imperial Area season be continued, with the dates Nov. 18 through Dec. 17, and that the short season on southern California Cooperative Hunting areas be continued as last year —Nov. 18 through Nov. 27.

No changes would be made in bag limits or shooting hours from last year's regulations.

No determinations on special antlerless or either-sex deer hunts as yet. That subject will be taken up at the F&G Commission meeting May 26.

Understand, please, the above information is not final. It is merely the recommendations made by the Department of Fish and Game. However, the betting odds that they will be adopted are about 50 to 1.

A neighbor of mine just called and asked if I would like a freshly caught striped bass. Had to reply in the negative, have two of them in the refrigerator at present. I asked him if he didn't have a pretty wet trip.

"Heck, no," he said, "I expect sudden changes in the weather these days, so I go prepared. It's easy to take off the rain clothes if the sun comes out, but you can't put 'em on if you haven't got them with you and it starts raining."

Tunney Girl Marries

RIVERSIDE (AP) — Former heavyweight boxing champion Gene Tunney has a brand new son-in-law, Lynn Carter Wilkinson Jr., a senior at Northwestern University.

Wilkinson and Tunney's daughter, Joan, 21, were married Saturday night in a brief ceremony at St. Francis of Assisi Chapel of the Mission Inn in Riverside.

Vejar Hangs Up Gloves After Edging Greaves

NEW YORK (AP)—After 117 fights spanning 11 years, Chico Vejar hung up his gloves today to become a public relations expert "because I'm a proud man."

"The road for me now would be all down hill," said the 29-year-old middleweight from Stamford, Conn. "I'm no longer thinking like a fighter. I have the savvy, the know-how, but I lack the fire."

Vejar never did get close to the middleweight title he aimed for over the years. When he started fighting as a pro, he was a student of dramatic arts at New York University. After a couple of years, he quit school to concentrate on fighting.

He wound up his career last night at St. Nicholas Arena with a unanimous 10-round decision over Wilfie Greaves of Edmonton, Alta. It was close.

"I should have done better, but I didn't," said Vejar, who shows the marks of his 93 victories, 20 losses and four draws. "But that's the end. If I had looked like a million dollars, I wouldn't continue.

"I'm completely finished. I don't even want to be a manager or a trainer."

Vejar is going with the Cerebral Palsy Foundation as a public relations man. He donated part of his purse to the organization.

It's closer to his heart than the money he'll make out of it. His 2-year-old son has cerebral palsy.

Chico was an actor to the end. Before the fight, he blew a kiss to the crowd and afterward he made a speech.

"I want to thank you for being so kind to me," he told the spectators. "Boxing has been good to me."

Greaves?

"Sentiment won for him," snorted Wilfie.

PALM SPRINGS (AP)—The Los Angeles Angels yesterday announced the signing of a 20-year-old pitcher-outfielder Walter Darton of Los Angeles. He will be assigned to the Angels' Dallas-Fort Worth farm club.

Machen-DeJohn Fight May Be One Of Year's Shortest

San Francisco's first major fight of 1961 could be one of its shortest, in the opinion of many knowing boxing men.

The reference, of course, is to the Eddie Machen-Mike DeJohn heavyweight brawl scheduled for the Cow Palace, Monday, April 10. This is the first promotion of the new Coast Counties Enterprises, Inc.

Both big men depend on the big punch to get the job done. DeJohn boasts one of the most murderous punches in heavyweight ranks. However, while he can, and often has, taken out an opponent with one blast, Machen usually stiffens foes with an accumulation of leather.

The record speaks for itself, so far as their punching is concerned. DeJohn has scored 28 of his 41 victories via the kayo route, and Machen has turned the trick 21 times in running up 36 victories.

DeJohn's last victory was a nine-round knockout of Billy Hunter. It took Machen exactly that long to dispose of the same man, indicating these two must be rated just about on a par.

DeJohn, who makes his home in Syracuse, N.Y., will be on the ground at least a week before the fight. He hopes to remain there until his wife gives birth to a child expected March 29.

Machen, now drilling in Portland, is expected in his old home town sooner, possibly as much as two weeks before their match.

Matchmaker Mario Spampinato now has tickets on sale at the Club's headquarters, 472 Ellis Street. They are priced at $10, $7.50, $5 and $2.50.

Many out-of-town sports fans are getting together to take in two major events in a two-day period, according to Spampinato. They will see the fight that night and the following day take in the Giants' opener against the world champion Pittsburgh Pirates at Candlestick Park.

New Good Driver Discount Plan

with two remarkable new benefits for good drivers who qualify

1 New Good Driver Discount—Allstate, long famous for low rates, now offers a new merit-rating plan that enables good drivers to earn lower rates—and with these features. Allstate's plan, unlike most other plans, carries no penalty for traffic violations. Also, accidents which entitle you to settlements under your collision or medical payments coverages do not cause your premium to be increased. The only accidents which raise your rates are those which require payment of $50 or more to "the other guy" under your liability coverage.

2 New Written Guarantee—Now you are assured that, after your liability insurance has been in force for 90 days, it will not and cannot be cancelled by us for a period up to 5 years, even if you are unlucky enough to have one or more accidents, except for certain conditions and irresponsible acts described below.

These are two of the newest and most striking advantages you get with an Allstate policy.

But don't overlook the many other pluses that Allstate Crusader policyholders enjoy. In addition to traditional low rates Allstate gives you:

- 10% discounts on liability and collision insurance for most compact cars
- 25% discounts on liability and collision insurance for most second and third cars
- Econo-Rate finance plan—low-cost auto financing through cooperating banks
- The services of the largest staff of full-time salaried claims people in the auto insurance business

Why not call or see an Allstate Agent soon. He will be glad to explain all the advantages you will receive as an Allstate policyholder. May we help you?

These are the only conditions under which Allstate's exclusive guarantee of noncancellation of auto liability insurance does not apply or can be withdrawn:

If the policyholder or any member of his household is convicted or forfeits bail for driving under the influence of intoxicating liquor or drugs, hit-and-run driving, vehicular homicide; car theft; driving while license is suspended or revoked; or making false statements in driver's license application, or fails to assist the company in defending him against another person's liability claim. If the policyholder fails to pay the premium when due, or ceases to reside or register his car in California.

This new plan applies only to individually owned private passenger cars. It is not available to Assigned Risks.

The cost of this insurance depends on the accident history of those insured under the policy and the rates in effect at the time the premium is computed at each renewal.

Winds Diminish, Floods Worsen In Midwest; Rain Dampens South

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Winds diminished and skies cleared in most of the Midwest today but more rain dampened soggy areas in the South in the wake of yesterday's violent weather.

Flood conditions appeared worsening in sections of Iowa and Wisconsin. Hundreds of persons have been forced from their homes by overflows of rivers and streams.

Tornadoes, thunderstorms, hail and gale-force winds battered wide areas of the South and Midwest Yesterday and last night, causing extensive property damage.

Tornadoes struck in Texas and Louisiana and winds up to 100 m.p.h. lashed northern Illinois. Tornadic winds, heavy rain and hail pounded the Arkansas-Louisiana-Texas region.

Two persons were killed in a tornado which destroyed five homes in the hamlet of Appleby, in east Texas. A twister struck the northern part of Shreveport, La., damaging one home, while huge hailstones damaged 75 small airplanes at the city's airport.

The strong winds which lashed Illinois and other Midwest states caused heavy property damage and scores of injuries. One death and 19 injuries were reported in Illinois, where the wind was clocked at 100 m.p.h. in Joliet.

In Iowa, the worst flood in history threatened Waterloo as the rampaging Cedar River appeared headed for a record crest of 21.5 feet. Volunteers worked through the night stacking more than 100,000 sandbags in threatened areas and helping to move families from low residential areas in the city of 65,000.

NINE BIGGEST 10 PER CENTERS FACE CHARGES

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Nine of the state's 10 biggest "10 per center" secondary mortgage firms now face civil and criminal charges in connection with their operations Atty. Gen. Stanley Mosk says.

The nine firms have been put in receivership, Mosk said yesterday. He said between one million and three million dollars of investors money had been misappropriated or embezzled.

Mosk's statement was in a report to the Governor's Council.

Tax Plan Eyes Phone Lines Streets Use

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Telephone companies would have to pay about 10 million dollars annually for use of city and county streets and roads under a constitutional amendment introduced yesterday.

The tax proposed in the measure by Sen. Richard Richards (D-Los Angeles) would be 1 per cent of gross income and distributed to cities and counties by population.

The new tax would replace present local levies such as business licenses, excise, franchise and local income taxes.

The above marks are documentary proof of the mileage potential built into today's cars using Mobil. They were scored on the 1961 Mobilgas Economy Run—world's greatest official proof of mileage economy.

Mobil has been economy proved in every make of American car. This year sixty-five cars were entered; they traveled 2561 miles, from Los Angeles to Chicago—over deserts, mountains, crowded city streets. Only Mobil goes to such lengths to demonstrate to you the mileage-economy possible from today's cars.

All cars averaged 23.25 miles per gallon with Mobil

You can prove this economy in your own car. Fill up with Mobil Regular or Special . . . improved with Preptane, the new long-mileage additive. Then do as the Economy Run drivers do: drive properly—avoid "jack-rabbit" starts, ease into higher gears quickly, keep a steady foot on the accelerator.

You, too, can get more miles between fill-ups with Mobil

Junior Museum Guilds Formed At Gala Tea On Kent Estate

More than 200 women, representing most areas of the county, were present for the recent initial membership tea.

"I can assure you the future success of the Junior Museum is dependent upon your wholehearted enthusiastic support of our program," said David N. Plant of Ross, president of the Junior Museum's Senior Board, who was introduced to the members by tea chairman Mrs. George Metcalfe of Kent Woodlands.

White blossoms were used to decorate the interior of the house for the tea, and combinations of spring flowers were used for the tea table centerpiece. Gay corsages were worn by the Guild presidents and special guests.

New members wore pink poodle name cards to carry out the theme of the main door prize, a white toy poodle named Tim Tam La Toy Town, who had been donated for the event by Mrs. Metcalfe.

Winner of the poodle was Mrs. Harrison Wheeler, president of the Lucas Valley Guild.

Taking turns at the tea table were five members of the Country Club Guild, the Mesdames Harold Berg, Robert O. Wilson, G. B. Zimmerman, Raymond Watts, and Fred Evans.

Present for the occasion were the presidents of the 25 new Guilds, whose members will assist the Museum with its activities and fund-raising efforts.

Southern Marin Guilds and their presidents include: Mill Valley, Mrs. J. K. Bloom; Marin Estates, Mrs. Paul Chaffee; Sausalito, Mrs. Milton Kodmur; Strawberry, Mrs. Horton Hinshaw Jr., Belvedere-Tiburon, Mrs. George T. White; and Richardson Bay, Mrs. H. J. Broderick.

From Ross Valley and Central Marin the Guilds and their presidents are: Hilldale, Mrs. E. W. Ericson; Northbridge, Mrs. C. Vincent deNevers, San Anselmo, Mrs. Walter Benson; Ross, Mrs. Karl Kropf; Corte Madera-Larkspur, Mrs. A. C. Mendle; Fairfax and Oak Manor, Mrs. Waldemar Radtke; Greenbrae, Mrs. C. F. Crossley Jr.; and Sleepy Hollow, Mrs. Willis Evans.

Kent Woodlands and Kentfield, with already enough members to fill two Guilds, will have Mrs. William Hildeburn as chairman of Guild No. 1, with the second Guild chairman to be announced later.

The nine new guild presidents for San Rafael and North Marin include: San Rafael, Mrs. Arthur Ablin; Lucas Valley, Mrs. Wheeler; Novato, Mrs. James Robinson; Country Club, Mrs. G. B. Zimmerman; Terra Linda, Mrs. Douglas Mc-Clellan; Loch Lomond, Mrs. H. Bruce Bernhard; Fairhills, Mrs. W. S. Briscoe; and Marinwood, Mrs. William E. Drake.

Mrs. Edward Hoover will lead the Hamilton Field group, which will assist with the Junior Museum activities but will not form a separate Guild.

Junior Museum Guilds Formed At Gala Tea On Kent Estate

Perfect spring weather and the beautiful grounds of the Roger Kent estate in Kent Woodlands combined to give the 25 new Guilds of the Junior Museum of Marin a gala "kick-off" tea this week.

More than 200 women, representing most areas of the county, were present for the recent initial membership tea.

"I can assure you the future success of the Junior Museum is dependent upon your wholehearted enthusiastic support of our program," said David N. Plant of Ross, president of the Junior Museum's Senior Board, who was introduced to the members by tea chairman Mrs. George Metcalfe of Kent Woodlands.

White blossoms were used to decorate the interior of the house for the tea, and combinations of spring flowers were used for the tea table centerpiece. Gay corsages were worn by the Guild presidents and special guests.

New members wore pink poodle name cards to carry out the theme of the main door prize, a white toy poodle named Tim Tam La Toy Town, who had been donated for the event by Mrs. Metcalfe.

Winner of the poodle was Mrs. Harrison Wheeler, president of the Lucas Valley Guild.

Taking turns at the tea table were five members of the Country Club Guild, the Mesdames Harold Berg, Robert O. Wilson, G. B. Zimmerman, Raymond Watts, and Fred Evans.

Present for the occasion were the presidents of the 25 new Guilds, whose members will assist the Museum with its activities and fund-raising efforts.

Southern Marin Guilds and their presidents include: Mill Valley, Mrs. J. K. Bloom; Marin Estates, Mrs. Paul Chaffee; Sausalito, Mrs. Milton Kodmur; Strawberry, Mrs. Horton Hinshaw Jr., Belvedere-Tiburon, Mrs. George T. White; and Richardson Bay, Mrs. H. J. Broderick.

From Ross Valley and Central Marin the Guilds and their presidents are: Hilldale, Mrs. E. W. Ericson; Northbridge, Mrs. C. Vincent deNevers, San Anselmo, Mrs. Walter Benson; Ross, Mrs. Karl Kropf; Corte Madera-Larkspur, Mrs. A. C. Mendle; Fairfax and Oak Manor, Mrs. Waldemar Radtke; Greenbrae, Mrs. C. F. Crossley Jr.; and Sleepy Hollow, Mrs. Willis Evans.

Kent Woodlands and Kentfield, with already enough members to fill two Guilds, will have Mrs. William Hildeburn as chairman of Guild No. 1, with the second Guild chairman to be announced later.

The nine new guild presidents for San Rafael and North Marin include: San Rafael, Mrs. Arthur Ablin; Lucas Valley, Mrs. Wheeler; Novato, Mrs. James Robinson; Country Club, Mrs. G. B. Zimmerman; Terra Linda, Mrs. Douglas Mc-Clellan; Loch Lomond, Mrs. H. Bruce Bernhard; Fairhills, Mrs. W. S. Briscoe; and Marinwood, Mrs. William E. Drake.

Mrs. Edward Hoover will lead the Hamilton Field group, which will assist with the Junior Museum activities but will not form a separate Guild.

Annual Rhubarb Revue To Have 'Melodies Of The '30s' Theme

Once a year for six performances (three weekends) the matrons of Tamalpais Valley drop their vacuums, irons, pots, pans and kids and worm into their black net opera hose for a fling at "Show Biz."

The annual Rhubarb Revue, opening this year on April 7, is their chance to do whatever they like on stage—the director will work it into the show somehow.

This year's revue has, of course, 10 dancing girls, but there are many other attractions woven into the "Melodies of the 30's" theme. Included are "Sophie Tucker" singers, comedy dancers, a would-be stripper, dancing partners Ginger and Fred, a witch, an orphan child famous in early radio days, and many comedy skits, blackouts and old songs guaranteed to bring tears to someone's eyes. (The director cried when he heard them.)

When the Tam Valley Improvement Clubbers decided on "Rhubarb Revue" as the name for the first show seven years ago, they must have been thinking of hash instead of pie, but the name has stuck. And in recent years the Rhubarbs have earned a wholesome, fulsome reputation as fast-paced, slam-bang fun shows with loyal audiences.

The six performances are usually sold out by opening date.

A common morning sight in the old T.V.I.C. Hall (revue profits go into the building fund for a new hall) is a group of gals dressed in jeans or shorts with their hair a mess, slogging their way through the impossible demands of the crazy choreographer, who stands around looking slim, cool and simply impossible.

Meanwhile the hall rocks with half a dozen kids having a ball. And bananas—everywhere the smell of bananas—as the children eat lunch. Bananas plastered on the walls and people and mashed on the floor.

Finally, as with typing, skiing and diapering, it all comes out right, and there it is looking easy as rhubarb pie — a chorus like a line hand-picked by Zeigfeld — skits come off like clockwork—the music is great—it's a whizzer of a show —and they've all had a wonderful time.

Ticket information may be obtained from Mesdames Nicholas Monteleone, Floyd Beaver or Dick Blaustein.

Why Are Marin County Parks Losing Attendance?

While the federal government debates the advisability of turning the Point Reyes Peninsula into a federal seashore area, some disquieting statistics have been released by the State Division of Beaches and Parks.

Total attendance figures for all state beaches, parks and monuments showed a 10.28 per cent gain in 1960 over the 1959 figures. 1959 had been 12.53 per cent higher than 1958 and 1958 had been 22.69 per cent more than 1957.

But in Marin County every state park and beach, with the exception of Angel Island State Park, still not in full operation, showed a substantial decrease in 1960 below the 1959 figure. Not only that, but in all but one other park, the 1959 attendance was below the 1958.

Mt. Tamalpais State Park, for example, showed a 398,994 person attendance in 1958, dropped to 296,620 in 1959 and to 268,510 in 1960.

Samuel P. Taylor State Park had 172,005 in 1958, rose to 222,400 in 1959 and declined last year to 193,697.

Tomales Bay State Park, a comparatively new installation, had 104,578 in 1958, then only 85,565 in 1959 and down to 73,613 last year.

Stinson Beach State Park had 516,355 in 1958, just 453,347 in 1959 and 423,335 in 1960.

Only park increase in the county has been Angel Island, which is still in the process of development. It rose from 5,291 visitors in 1958 to 9,529 in 1959 up to 22,225 last year.

We don't know how to interpret these figures. If just one or two of our state parks were showing lower attendance we wouldn't be so concerned. But if every single one of them in full operation is losing its attractiveness, we'd like to know the reason.

Do we now have enough parks this close to the metropolitan area? Are people when they get in their cars actually preferring to go farther away for their recreation?

We don't know the answers. But we'd certainly like to hear some official interpretation of these figures by the state park experts.

CANDY FOR THE THIEVES

Two armed robbers got little more than peanut brittle when they snatched a bag from a grocer in Detroit as he was closing his store for the day.

They mistook it for the bag he held in his other hand, which contained several hundred dollars in receipts.

No one was on hand to report the reaction of the thieves when they opened the stolen bag and found nothing but peanut brittle, pork chops and medicine inside.

Those who resort to dishonesty usually pay a stiff price for small gains. Sooner or later they must realize that for all the time and trouble they devoted to crooked pursuits, they could more easily have led truly constructive lives.

Here's One Space Problem That's Never Likely To See A Solution

NEW YORK (AP)—The other morning my wife awoke as I leaned out the window of our eighth-floor apartment and pulled up a string to which a pair of my shoes were tied.

"Well, Rover, I give up," said Frances, after a long pause. "Why did you hang your shoes out the window overnight?"

"To dramatize a problem," I told her crisply.

"Oh, dear, I can see you're ready to launch into one of your long-winded equal-rights-for husbands speeches," said Frances. She wrapped a pillow around her ears. "Go ahead. What's the problem vexing your poor battered male ego this time?"

"Space control," I replied icily. "Governments worry about how to control outer space.

"But to me — and every married man I know — the real problem is inner space. We feel space control should begin in the home, and every man should have his fair share of the space available.

"Marriage to every man boils down to a long struggle to find a place in his castle to keep his personal belongings.

"When we were first married, the only apartment we could afford was so small there was no closet room for me, and I could hardly ever take a shower because the bath was full of clothes drying.

"But you said that when we were able to move into a bigger apartment all this would change.

"So I rented us a lot bigger apartment. Now we have two big bedrooms, five closets and two bathrooms.."

"We now also have a growing daughter and a growing cat," pointed out Frances placidly.

"Yes," I told her, "and between you, our daughter and the cat I have less lebensraum every year.

"You are gradually crowding me out of the apartment.

"I still can't take a shower when I want to because the cat has her sandbox in what is laughingly referred to as my bathroom.

"When I want to sit in my favorite chair, the cat is there.

"OUR DAUGHTER has taken over as her playroom the study where I planned to write the great American novel.

"And you have taken over what was to be my closet. Every time I open the door that portrait of your father falls down and hits me."

"Perhaps we ought to move out and take a house," said Frances.

"That's no solution," I yelped. "A man could rent the Smithsonian Institute, and in three months his family would have it full of their clutter—and there wouldn't be room for a single thing of his.

"Now do you wonder why I hung my shoes out the window on a string?"

"I GUESS you do have a problem," agreed my wife. "I'll see what I can do about it."

That night when I came home she handed me a stout rope.

"This ought to help you with your storage problem," said Frances. "You can hang three pairs of your shoes out the window with this. That string might break!"

Why Not Private Pt. Reyes Park

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

Please allow me to present some of the pros and cons regarding a park at Point Reyes.

Reason why Point Reyes Peninsula should become a national park:

1. More beautiful country will be opened to the public.

Reasons why Point Reyes Peninsula should not become a national park:

1. Private property will be destroyed.

2. Taxable land will be diminished.

3. Sooner or later local self-government in the area might be largely replaced with directives from Washington.

Fortunately, there exists an alternative course of action which could solve this dilema. The property owners in the area could establish private parks and resorts.

The advantages of private parks would be:

1. More beautiful country will be opened to the public.

2. Private property will not be destroyed.

3. Taxable land will increase in value.

4. The priceless heritage of local self-government will not be forfeited by the residents of the area or to some extent by Marin County as a whole.

The property owners might very well save themselves if they petitioned Congress to postpone hearings for a year and so to give them a chance to establish private recreation facilities. The federal government has said that it will not undertake to do what the people can do for themselves.

Seventeen-Mile Drive near Monterey and the Russian River resorts are examples of private property opened to the public. There is no clamor to make them into national parks.

New Low Depth Of Irresponsibility

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

I believe, as do many others, that your editorial of Wednesday, March 8, reached a new low depth of newspaper irresponsibility.

We were privileged to have for our district attorney in Marin for nearly eight years, a man of unimpeachable integrity, honor, and dedication. Your editorial with its sinister innuendos is a grim reward for a man who served the community loyally and courageously, fearing no evil or criticism. In this era of much needed leadership and public service, your unwarranted attack upon Mr. (W. O.) Weissich lends nothing but discouragement to future public servants.

The press has a somewhat sacred duty to enlighten and inform the public. Never, under any circumstances must one publisher, because he has unlimited freedom, interpret that freedom as license to use his paper to the detriment and deliberate villification of another human being.

One at this point may reflect upon the concept of "absolute power corrupting absolutely," since you have no competitor in the county, there is no one to put a check on your opinions being so irresponsibly voiced.

I suggest to you that an editorial as unjust as the one about Mr. Weissich strongly reminds us of the need in this community for another newspaper with a fresh breath of objective thought.

JAMES E. DOOLITTLE

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

You should be ashamed of your editorial of March 16. I agree there may be time to rebuild friendships with our Latin neighbors but you yourself admit to one grave mistake when you said "we were able to respond glibly . . . that our readers simply are not much interested in what happens 'south of the border.'"

Who says so? You?

Worse, you go on to say glibly, "a more accurate reply would be that the people of the U. S. are mostly so little educated about Latin America we cannot understand the significance of any news from our southern neighbors."

You say it is tragic. Then what are you newspaper editors doing to do your part to see that more people are educated?

Print it on the front page (I refer to S.F. and all U.S. papers of course as well) and people will become educated and interested. You even admit "we should have been paying attention to what has gone on in Latin America (in the past)."

The newspapers are the best medium to educate the people quickly and can do this either for quick profit by shocking headlines of murder, suicide, rape, etc., telling us it is "what we want" or you can get the ball rolling by putting real news on the front page and maybe even cut down on psycho murders, juvenile delinquency, etc.

One paper headlines "JFK Tells Farmers, Cure Own Ills" (a stupid reader stops there and gabs to his neighbor "Kennedy is telling farmers to figure out their own problem, he's not going to help.") . . . Your paper said "Farmer-Written Plan Proposed By Kennedy." It sounded fair.

More should be written of the peace plan so that people will voice an opinion and we will see that proper people are chosen—close-mouthed, dedicated people—not just opportunists and those who may go with a complete idea of their own and not for the good of this country.

More should be said in papers about speaking Spanish (some grammar schools are teaching French—why? Spanish would be more useful.)

Must say that other than the facts I mention in your editorial your paper gives more intelligent coverage than most. At least I feel you believe your Marin readers are not altogether lacking in education.

If people weren't too tired to write at the end of a day's work (this letter is pure torture) you would be surprised how many are not only aware, but thinking.

The newspapers can do a lot—I hope they start soon . . .

A college grad wangled his way into a tony publisher's office and asked cheerfully, "Need a good editor?" "I do not."

"A proofreader, perhaps?" "Nope."

"A sixth assistant secretary?" "No. Sorry, but we haven't any openings at all at the moment."

"Then," said the applicant, "you certainly need one of these." And from his briefcase he produced a neat metal sign reading, "No help wanted."

An ary private signed up for a correspondence course in electrical engineering and was puzzled by one question on the application blank. "How long has your present employer been in business?" it read. The private finally answered, "Since 1776."

A Broadway publicity man bought a new electric typewriter and crawled under the desk with the extension cord to plug it in. A client cought him in the act. "You press agents!" he chortled. "Always looking for a plug."

There Are Two Sides To Child's Report About His Teachers

Next time little Mabel or Horace comes home screaming that teacher is a nasty so and so, consider the other side of the story.

Ray Monson put it well in a speech the other night before some 70 parents. He's principal of Olive School in Novato.

FROM THE PARENTS' side — "when you put together 650 children from many backgrounds in one school building for 10 months out of the year, you can expect problems.

"And these problems will cover such things as dissatisfaction with teachers' grading, too much homework, too little homework, my child is unhappy with his teacher, too much discipline, too little discipline, too much is expected of my child, not enough is expected of my child, the teacher is picking on my child, the other children are picking on my child and so on and so on and so on—

"Many criticisms are valid, many are not."

FROM THE TEACHERS' side—"I can remember an old teacher of mine . . . who, when all else had failed, would slap a piece of scotch tape over our mouths to shut us up for a few minutes so she could go on with the lesson.

"I don't think this damaged our psyche—it was really a badge of honor. I always felt sorry for the little guy in our class who never got the scotch tape treatment. We didn't have anything to do with him.

"I think the only psyche damage I ever suffered was in chewing gum. If she caught us, we had to wear it on the end of our nose ther est of the day.

"To this day, I never chew gum.

"If you take away every disciplinary technique that a teacher may use—you leave them very little with which to control a class of 30-plus squirmy, energetic magpies.

"What methods would you use? When all else had failed, would you wrap a piece of yarn around a youngster's waist, would you ask him to step outside the door and not come back until he can behave himself?

"WOULD YOU try the scotch tape method, would you ask him to put his head down on his desk for a few minutes, would you stand him in the corner, would you verbally chastise him in front of the class, would you express your own disappointment in him, would you ask him to look at himself as others see him?

"Would you inform the parents that their child was a behavior problem in school?

"If you answered 'yes' to any of these techniques, you would be subject to criticism and parent censure. I have dealt with an irate parent over each of these methods.

" . . . If you take away every little disciplinary technique from our teachers, you leave them very little. In which case, we would have to lean heavily on suspension —and even this is not satisfactory, inasmuch that if a child isn't in school, he can't very well learn qualities of good self control.

"A child must know that his parents respect his teacher and school."

THE APPLAUSE for Monson's statements was almost equaled by that for a poem read by William G. Schneeflock and written by his wife:

I know it is a splendid thing
  to teach the tender mind,
To inspire them to knowledge,
  to be ever wise and kind;
To keep them on the upward path of happiness and peace,
To give them guide posts for the way, until all struggles
  cease.
To lift them up when courage
  fails,
To keep them clear and bright,
But from my inmost soul I say,
Thank God for Friday night.

Reds Appear To Have No Congo Policy Except To Wreck U.N.

WASHINGTON — Summing up the "position of the Soviet Union," Andre Gromyko told the General Assembly last week that on the one hand the U. N. should withdraw its troops from the Congo within a month, on the other hand that it should remove "all Belgian troops and Belgian personnel now in that country." It should arrest Tshombe in Elizabethville and Mobutu in Leopoldville, and it should give "the necessary assistance and support" to Gizenga in Stanleyville.

A rather busy month for a withdrawing army!

Does this make any sense, to expect the U. N. forces which would be in the process of packing their bags and moving to the ports to exercise the authority of overwhelming power in all the centers of the vast territory of the Congo?

GROMYKO'S SUMMARY of the position is such an irrational and contradictory one as to leave the observer asking whether the Soviet Union has any policy in the Congo except to demolish the United Nations as an influence in world affairs.

The United States position on the Congo rests on a decision which was first taken by President Eisenhower and which was recently reaffirmed by Henry Cabot Lodge. The decision was to act with and through the United Nations in African affairs.

This policy is also that of the Kennedy administration.

WHAT IS NOW at stake is more than the pacification of the tribes of the Congo. It is the preservation of the integrity of the United Nations as an instrument of peace during the liquidation of the colonial empires. The liberated countries would become the victims of a new imperialist conflict if the United Nations were to disappear.

We can have a reasonable confidence that on this issue, we shall find ourselves aligned with the great majority of the uncommitted nations of the world, including the largest of them, India. The uncommitted nations cannot assent to Gromyko's demand that the U. N. withdraw from the Congo in 30 days unless they are willing to abandon the only institution on earth in which the small and weak can stand up to the great and the powerful.

WE HAVE GOOD reason to believe that on this crucial issue—the survival of the United Nations—we are not only on the right side. We are on the winning side.

However, it must be said that if the United States policy is to succeed, it must have the support and the cooperation of our allies — particularly of Belgium and France.

"When we were first married, the only apartment we could afford was so small there was no closet room for me, and I could hardly ever take a shower because the bath was full of clothes drying.

"But you said that when we were able to move into a bigger apartment all this would change.

"So I rented us a lot bigger apartment. Now we have two big bedrooms, five closets and two bathrooms.."

"We now also have a growing daughter and a growing cat," pointed out Frances placidly.

"Yes," I told her, "and between you, our daughter and the cat I have less lebensraum every year.

"You are gradually crowding me out of the apartment.

"I still can't take a shower when I want to because the cat has her sandbox in what is laughingly referred to as my bathroom.

"When I want to sit in my favorite chair, the cat is there.

"OUR DAUGHTER has taken over as her playroom the study where I planned to write the great American novel.

"And you have taken over what was to be my closet. Every time I open the door that portrait of your father falls down and hits me."

"Perhaps we ought to move out and take a house," said Frances.

"That's no solution," I yelped. "A man could rent the Smithsonian Institute, and in three months his family would have it full of their clutter—and there wouldn't be room for a single thing of his.

"Now do you wonder why I hung my shoes out the window on a string?"

"I GUESS you do have a problem," agreed my wife. "I'll see what I can do about it."

That night when I came home she handed me a stout rope.

"This ought to help you with your storage problem," said Frances. "You can hang three pairs of your shoes out the window with this. That string might break!"

Poison cow spray was causing death of spawning salmon and fingerling trout in San Geronima Creek, warned Fish and Game Warden Al Giddings.

Liederkranz cheese was pulled out of all markets as result of botuline paisoning blamed on jarred cheese. One consignment was reported contaminated with poisonous bacteria.

Juvenile delinquency in Marin County isn't alarming and has been on the decrease since 1949, according to a report by County Probation Officer Edmund Blum.

Why Not Private Pt. Reyes Park

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

Please allow me to present some of the pros and cons regarding a park at Point Reyes.

Reason why Point Reyes Peninsula should become a national park:

1. More beautiful country will be opened to the public.

Reasons why Point Reyes Peninsula should not become a national park:

1. Private property will be destroyed.

2. Taxable land will be diminished.

3. Sooner or later local self-government in the area might be largely replaced with directives from Washington.

Fortunately, there exists an alternative course of action which could solve this dilema. The property owners in the area could establish private parks and resorts.

The advantages of private parks would be:

1. More beautiful country will be opened to the public.

2. Private property will not be destroyed.

3. Taxable land will increase in value.

4. The priceless heritage of local self-government will not be forfeited by the residents of the area or to some extent by Marin County as a whole.

The property owners might very well save themselves if they petitioned Congress to postpone hearings for a year and so to give them a chance to establish private recreation facilities. The federal government has said that it will not undertake to do what the people can do for themselves.

Seventeen-Mile Drive near Monterey and the Russian River resorts are examples of private property opened to the public. There is no clamor to make them into national parks.

New Low Depth Of Irresponsibility

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

I believe, as do many others, that your editorial of Wednesday, March 8, reached a new low depth of newspaper irresponsibility.

We were privileged to have for our district attorney in Marin for nearly eight years, a man of unimpeachable integrity, honor, and dedication. Your editorial with its sinister innuendos is a grim reward for a man who served the community loyally and courageously, fearing no evil or criticism. In this era of much needed leadership and public service, your unwarranted attack upon Mr. (W. O.) Weissich lends nothing but discouragement to future public servants.

The press has a somewhat sacred duty to enlighten and inform the public. Never, under any circumstances must one publisher, because he has unlimited freedom, interpret that freedom as license to use his paper to the detriment and deliberate villification of another human being.

One at this point may reflect upon the concept of "absolute power corrupting absolutely," since you have no competitor in the county, there is no one to put a check on your opinions being so irresponsibly voiced.

I suggest to you that an editorial as unjust as the one about Mr. Weissich strongly reminds us of the need in this community for another newspaper with a fresh breath of objective thought.

Be Ashamed Of Editorial

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

You should be ashamed of your editorial of March 16. I agree there may be time to rebuild friendships with our Latin neighbors but you yourself admit to one grave mistake when you said "we were able to respond glibly . . . that our readers simply are not much interested in what happens 'south of the border.'"

Who says so? You?

Worse, you go on to say glibly, "a more accurate reply would be that the people of the U. S. are mostly so little educated about Latin America we cannot understand the significance of any news from our southern neighbors."

You say it is tragic. Then what are you newspaper editors doing to do your part to see that more people are educated?

Print it on the front page (I refer to S.F. and all U.S. papers of course as well) and people will become educated and interested. You even admit "we should have been paying attention to what has gone on in Latin America (in the past)."

The newspapers are the best medium to educate the people quickly and can do this either for quick profit by shocking headlines of murder, suicide, rape, etc., telling us it is "what we want" or you can get the ball rolling by putting real news on the front page and maybe even cut down on psycho murders, juvenile delinquency, etc.

One paper headlines "JFK Tells Farmers, Cure Own Ills" (a stupid reader stops there and gabs to his neighbor "Kennedy is telling farmers to figure out their own problem, he's not going to help.") . . . Your paper said "Farmer-Written Plan Proposed By Kennedy." It sounded fair.

More should be written of the peace plan so that people will voice an opinion and we will see that proper people are chosen—close-mouthed, dedicated people—not just opportunists and those who may go with a complete idea of their own and not for the good of this country.

More should be said in papers about speaking Spanish (some grammar schools are teaching French—why? Spanish would be more useful.)

Must say that other than the facts I mention in your editorial your paper gives more intelligent coverage than most. At least I feel you believe your Marin readers are not altogether lacking in education.

If people weren't too tired to write at the end of a day's work (this letter is pure torture) you would be surprised how many are not only aware, but thinking.

The newspapers can do a lot—I hope they start soon . . .

TRY AND STOP ME

BENNETT CERF

A college grad wangled his way into a tony publisher's office and asked cheerfully, "Need a good editor?" "I do not."

"A proofreader, perhaps?" "Nope."

"A sixth assistant secretary?" "No. Sorry, but we haven't any openings at all at the moment."

"Then," said the applicant, "you certainly need one of these." And from his briefcase he produced a neat metal sign reading, "No help wanted."

An ary private signed up for a correspondence course in electrical engineering and was puzzled by one question on the application blank. "How long has your present employer been in business?" it read. The private finally answered, "Since 1776."

A Broadway publicity man bought a new electric typewriter and crawled under the desk with the extension cord to plug it in. A client cought him in the act. "You press agents!" he chortled. "Always looking for a plug."

I-J REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

By ELLEN BRY

There Are Two Sides To Child's Report About His Teachers

Next time little Mabel or Horace comes home screaming that teacher is a nasty so and so, consider the other side of the story.

Ray Monson put it well in a speech the other night before some 70 parents. He's principal of Olive School in Novato.

FROM THE PARENTS' side — "when you put together 650 children from many backgrounds in one school building for 10 months out of the year, you can expect problems.

"And these problems will cover such things as dissatisfaction with teachers' grading, too much homework, too little homework, my child is unhappy with his teacher, too much discipline, too little discipline, too much is expected of my child, not enough is expected of my child, the teacher is picking on my child, the other children are picking on my child and so on and so on and so on—

"Many criticisms are valid, many are not."

FROM THE TEACHERS' side—"I can remember an old teacher of mine . . . who, when all else had failed, would slap a piece of scotch tape over our mouths to shut us up for a few minutes so she could go on with the lesson.

"I don't think this damaged our psyche—it was really a badge of honor. I always felt sorry for the little guy in our class who never got the scotch tape treatment. We didn't have anything to do with him.

"I think the only psyche damage I ever suffered was in chewing gum. If she caught us, we had to wear it on the end of our nose ther est of the day.

"To this day, I never chew gum.

"If you take away every disciplinary technique that a teacher may use—you leave them very little with which to control a class of 30-plus squirmy, energetic magpies.

"What methods would you use? When all else had failed, would you wrap a piece of yarn around a youngster's waist, would you ask him to step outside the door and not come back until he can behave himself?

"WOULD YOU try the scotch tape method, would you ask him to put his head down on his desk for a few minutes, would you stand him in the corner, would you verbally chastise him in front of the class, would you express your own disappointment in him, would you ask him to look at himself as others see him?

"Would you inform the parents that their child was a behavior problem in school?

"If you answered 'yes' to any of these techniques, you would be subject to criticism and parent censure. I have dealt with an irate parent over each of these methods.

" . . . If you take away every little disciplinary technique from our teachers, you leave them very little. In which case, we would have to lean heavily on suspension —and even this is not satisfactory, inasmuch that if a child isn't in school, he can't very well learn qualities of good self control.

"A child must know that his parents respect his teacher and school."

THE APPLAUSE for Monson's statements was almost equaled by that for a poem read by William G. Schneeflock and written by his wife:

I know it is a splendid thing
to teach the tender mind,
To inspire them to knowledge,
to be ever wise and kind;
To keep them on the upward
path of happiness and
peace,
To give them guide posts for the way, until all struggles
cease.
To lift them up when courage
fails,
To keep them clear and
bright,
But from my inmost soul I say,
Thank God for Friday night.

WALTER LIPPMANN

Reds Appear To Have No Congo Policy Except To Wreck U.N.

WASHINGTON — Summing up the "position of the Soviet Union," Andre Gromyko told the General Assembly last week that on the one hand the U. N. should withdraw its troops from the Congo within a month, on the other hand that it should remove "all Belgian troops and Belgian personnel now in that country." It should arrest Tshombe in Elizabethville and Mobutu in Leopoldville, and it should give "the necessary assistance and support" to Gizenga in Stanleyville.

A rather busy month for a withdrawing army!

Does this make any sense, to expect the U. N. forces which would be in the process of packing their bags and moving to the ports to exercise the authority of overwhelming power in all the centers of the vast territory of the Congo?

GROMYKO'S SUMMARY of the position is such an irrational and contradictory one as to leave the observer asking whether the Soviet Union has any policy in the Congo except to demolish the United Nations as an influence in world affairs.

The United States position on the Congo rests on a decision which was first taken by President Eisenhower and which was recently reaffirmed by Henry Cabot Lodge. The decision was to act with and through the United Nations in African affairs.

This policy is also that of the Kennedy administration.

WHAT IS NOW at stake is more than the pacification of the tribes of the Congo. It is the preservation of the integrity of the United Nations as an instrument of peace during the liquidation of the colonial empires. The liberated countries would become the victims of a new imperialist conflict if the United Nations were to disappear.

We can have a reasonable confidence that on this issue, we shall find ourselves aligned with the great majority of the uncommitted nations of the world, including the largest of them, India. The uncommitted nations cannot assent to Gromyko's demand that the U. N. withdraw from the Congo in 30 days unless they are willing to abandon the only institution on earth in which the small and weak can stand up to the great and the powerful.

WE HAVE GOOD reason to believe that on this crucial issue—the survival of the United Nations—we are not only on the right side. We are on the winning side.

However, it must be said that if the United States policy is to succeed, it must have the support and the cooperation of our allies — particularly of Belgium and France.

INCOME TAX FACTS

Unemployment Disability Tax May Yield Refund

By PETER J. WIKEL, CPA

Did you work for more than one employer in California during 1960 or have more than $36.00 deducted from your paychecks for unemployment disability insurance tax?

Peter J. Wikel

The maximum that can be deducted from your paychecks for unemployment disability insurance in any one year by any one employer is $36. If your employer deducted more than $36 you should apply to him for a refund.

If you had more than one employer in 1960 and earned more than $3,600 you had more than $36 deducted from your paycheck for unemployment disability insurance and you are entitled to a refund of the difference.

You must claim this refund if you are to receive it. The claim must be filed before June 30, 1961.

Claims are filed with the California Department of Employment, attention accounting section, 1025 P Street, Sacramento 14.

Claims must be filed on form DE-1964. These forms can be secured from your local office of the Department of Employment, or by writing to Sacramento.

Sausalito, Tam School Candidates Invited To Speak

Candidates for both Tamalpais Union High School District and Sausalito Elementary School boards in the April 18 election have been invited to speak at a town meeting at 8 p.m. April 6 in the IDESST Hall in Sausalito.

The meeting will be sponsored by the Sausalito Citizens Council.

Chester G. Carlisle, superintendent of the high school district, will speak in favor of its proposed three-million dollar bond issue, announced Jan Paul Dyk, citizens council president. There will also be a speaker against the bond issue, he said.

Candidates for the three positions on the Sausalito board are Mrs. Juanita S. Cobb and George R. Kowski, incumbents, Walter J. Lord and Dr. Stanley J. Wolfe.

Candidates for four posts on the high school board include Dr. Delman D. Smith of Sausalito; Charles S. Graham and Tom McDougall of Mill Valley; George T. White of Tiburon; William B. Wolfson of Ross; William B. Lewis, Philip J. Rowland and Edmund J. Thomas Jr. of San Anselmo; Dr. John C. Siemens of Kentfield and Joe V. Lopes of Woodacre. Smith, Lewis and Thomas are incumbents.

Hummingbirds are found only in North, Central and South America and islands in adjacent seas.

United Ambulance Plans To Mark Anniversary

Twenty-six employees of the United Ambulance Co. will be joint hosts at an open house between 5 and 9 p.m. April 6 at the company's headquarters at 914 Irwin Street, San Rafael in observance of the firm's 25th business anniversary.

Of the total employees, 14 are switchboard girls from the switchboard of the answering service operated by the company.

United Ambulance started in 1936 in a livery barn at Third Street and Lincoln Avenue, its founders being the present manager Angelo Turrini, the late V. J. B. Cheda, and Joseph McTeak, who is no longer connected but has promised to come for the celebration.

The barn was known at the "San Rafael Riding Academy." Its horses were mostly used for cavalry classes of the San Rafael Military Academy.

Though the one ambulance with which service started aff was motorized, the founding partners devoted a good deal of their time to looking after the horses.

"This resulted in a little mercy about our rent," Turrini recalls.

At the time United Ambulance was established, there were only 28 physicians in Marin County whereas now there are 260. Turrini points out that the service has grown in pace with the increase and improvement in medical service of the county.

INCOME TAX FACTS

Unemployment Disability Tax May Yield Refund

By PETER J. WIKEL, CPA

Did you work for more than one employer in California during 1960 or have more than $36.00 deducted from your paychecks for unemployment disability insurance tax?

Peter J. Wikel

The maximum that can be deducted from your paychecks for unemployment disability insurance in any one year by any one employer is $36. If your employer deducted more than $36 you should apply to him for a refund.

If you had more than one employer in 1960 and earned more than $3,600 you had more than $36 deducted from your paycheck for unemployment disability insurance and you are entitled to a refund of the difference.

You must claim this refund if you are to receive it. The claim must be filed before June 30, 1961.

Claims are filed with the California Department of Employment, attention accounting section, 1025 P Street, Sacramento 14.

Claims must be filed on form DE-1964. These forms can be secured from your local office of the Department of Employment, or by writing to Sacramento.

United Ambulance Plans To Mark Anniversary

Twenty-six employees of the United Ambulance Co. will be joint hosts at an open house between 5 and 9 p.m. April 6 at the company's headquarters at 914 Irwin Street, San Rafael in observance of the firm's 25th business anniversary.

Of the total employees, 14 are switchboard girls from the switchboard of the answering service operated by the company.

United Ambulance started in 1936 in a livery barn at Third Street and Lincoln Avenue, its founders being the present manager Angelo Turrini, the late V. J. B. Cheda, and Joseph McTeak, who is no longer connected but has promised to come for the celebration.

The barn was known at the "San Rafael Riding Academy." Its horses were mostly used for cavalry classes of the San Rafael Military Academy.

Though the one ambulance with which service started aff was motorized, the founding partners devoted a good deal of their time to looking after the horses.

"This resulted in a little mercy about our rent," Turrini recalls.

At the time United Ambulance was established, there were only 28 physicians in Marin County whereas now there are 260. Turrini points out that the service has grown in pace with the increase and improvement in medical service of the county.
